Arrested in $4,600 Theft

Local Employe of Gas Firm Held in Case at Springfield

Alertness of Marion police and co-operative action with Springfield police Tuesday resulted in the arrest of a 33-year old Marion man on a charge of grand larceny.

He is Ross E. Taylor of 204 Cummins Ave., accused of entering the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. office in Springfield the night of March 12 and taking $4,600 from an office safe.

Marion police first became suspicious of him on March 18 when they received information from an unnamed source that he had a large amount of money hidden in his house. Police said they found $4,174.90 in various hiding places around the house.

POLICE CHIEF Justin Cornely said local police started a 24-hour-a-day surveillance over Taylor's activities on March 18 and at the same time began checking with other police departments throughout Ohio to determine if they had any unsolved burglaries or robberies.

Local police learned that Taylor had been transferred to the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. here as office manager last August from the Springfield office and on March 22 called Springfield police to determine if they had had any unsolved money thefts there.

Police there said the Ohio Fuel Gas office there was entered sometime after 8:30 p.m. the night of March 12 and that a total of $4,600.25 in paper money and coins was taken from the safe.

Tuesday, Lt. Vincent O'Brien, Sgt. Ralph Christian and Patrolmen Carl Henderson of the Springfield police department came to Marion and together with Marion Police Chief Cornely and Capt. Virgil Campbell went to the gas company office here at 10 a.m. and told Taylor they would like to talk with him about the Springfield theft.

THEY QUESTIONED him at the Marion police department until 5:30 p.m. when he admitted to Chief Cornely and Lt. O'Brien that he had taken the money and told them he would take them to his home and show them where it was hidden, the officers said.

Police said they found the money hidden in various places inside, under and outside the house. It was placed in glass jars and cigar boxes, they said.

Shortly after they took Taylor into custody Tuesday morning, Marion police obtained fingerprints from him and one of the Springfield policemen drove to Marysville with them where another Springfield officer picked them up and took them on to the police department there, Lt. O'Brien said.

Comparison of Taylor's fingerprints and those found in one of the money containers taken from the Springfield safe showed them to be from the same person, police there determined, the lieutenant said.

IN MID-AFTERNOON Springfield police telegraphed Marion police that they had filed an affidavit in Springfield Municipal Court charging Taylor with grand larceny.

After the two teams of Marion and Springfield police finished counting the money found in Taylor's home Tuesday night, he and the money were returned to Springfield where police planned to question him further today.

Chief Cornely said that in the

Toll of Dead From Storms Placed at 36

Little Relief Expected From Drought; Crop Damages Also Climb

By The Associated Press

The death tolls stands at 36 in the spring snowstorm which hit the Western Plains over the weekend and in the area it hit hardest there was a feeling today it had brought only limited relief.

New Mexico stockmen said they would have been better off without the snow. Some lost their entire herds in the mountainous drifts.

The six-state high plains area which got up to 14 inches of snow and drifts as high as 30 feet still was digging out today. But trains were starting to move again and at least the main roads were open, except in western Kansas.

Thirteen persons in three cars and a truck were uncovered Tuesday night by a road crew on U.S. 50 near Garden City, Kan. They had been snowbound three days but all were reported in good condition. They had been carrying some food.

Missing Cadet Found Safe in Sealed Boxcar

West Pointer Locked In Load of Potatoes Without Water 8 Days

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP) — The mystery of a missing West Point cadet ended Tuesday when he stumbled out of a boxcar of potatoes in Jersey City, N. J.

Jerome Lee Gibbons, 18, was accidentally sealed in the car eight days ago. He nibbled on potatoes to stave off hunger and thirst during his imprisonment.

Military policemen brought the bewhiskered youth to the academy hospital here. Doctors said he was weak but mentally alert. He had lost 15 pounds and was dried out from lack of water.

Feared Failure

Academy authorities said Gibbons ran away on St. Patrick's Day because he was afraid he had flunked a physical aptitude test. But failure, they added, wouldn't necessarily mean expulsion.

"I just wanted to get away from it," railroad police quoted the youth as saying.

Gibbons, a first-year cadet from Fulton, N.Y., said he made his way to Campbell Hall, N. Y., about 30 miles north of here. There he climbed into the boxcar the night of March 18.

Before the train left, the door was sealed. Gibbons was trapped in the darkened car.

Made Bunk of Sacks

The car was ventilated and he had room to move around. He made a bunk with the sacks of potatoes.

The boxcar arrived in the Erie Railroad yards at Jersey City the same night. But a loader did not unseal the car until Tuesday.

The four-inch thick walls of the car apparently muffled Gibbons' cries for help and the hammering of his fists.

"Water, water," the cadet pleaded as he wobbled out of the car. "I'll tell you what drove me crazy. One night it rained and I could hear the water pounding against the car and I was dying of thirst."

Army authorities did not say what disciplinary action Gibbons will face.

Quakes Still Felt

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — This seaport metropolis is still having earth tremors — relatively minor shakes as an aftermath of Friday's big jolt. A moderately strong quake was felt at 6:13 p.m. Tuesday.

Consultant On Stand in Beck Inquiry

Shefferman Details Purchases He Made For Teamsters' Boss

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nathan Shefferman, Chicago public relations consultant, testified today he made purchases totaling $85,000 for Dave Beck over a period of years ending with 1953. He said "I did not know it was union funds" he used.

Items purchased ranged from washing machines and refrigerators to knee drawers, nylons and "possibly garden hose."

And, Shefferman said, he took care of an $8 repair bill for fixing Beck's false teeth in Chicago.

Shefferman said he believed the $85,000 total might include items purchased for Dave Beck Jr. and Mrs. Beck.

Kennedy Asks Questions

The testimony to the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee came under questioning from Robert F. Kennedy, committee counsel, who has charged that Beck channeled that sum out of Teamsters Union funds to his personal use through Shefferman.

"Did you know it was union money?" Kennedy asked Shefferman.

"I did not—I never saw any of the money, the checks," Shefferman replied. "The letters were opened and the checks were taken out by the clerk."

Beck, boss of the teamsters, sat slightly behind and to the right of Shefferman as the public relations consultant testified. Beck smiled at some of Shefferman's testimony.

Materials Purchased

Shefferman said that at the time he was buying things for Beck "I think that also according to the records you will find some $400,000 worth of materials were purchased for many people, both in labor and industry, throughout that identical period."

The committee asked Shefferman to identify a list of "samples of items purchased for Dave Beck by Nath Shefferman with teamster unions funds."

The list covered a range from $9.63 for five dozen diapers to $1,242.45 for "chairs, table, loveseats, settees, etc."

Gets Discount Rates

There was a guffaw from senators as well as spectators when Shefferman read an item of "21 pairs of nylons." He cleared his throat, and paused. "I happen to know Mr. Beck as a moral man, so it's perfectly all right," he said.

Shefferman explained that he did such buying for union officials, getting them discount rates, as a good will gesture to promote his business.

Orth Is Given 10-25 Years on Robbery Count

In a hearing Tuesday morning before Allen County Common Pleas Court Judge Moran B. Jenkins of Lima, Kenneth J. Orth, 26, of Marion, convicted last Friday of armed robbery, was sentenced to 10 to 25 years in the Ohio Penitentiary in Columbus.

Orth was convicted by a jury of seven women and five men who deliberated 12 hours before returning a verdict of guilty of armed robbery. He was charged with being a member of a three-man gang taking part in a holdup-slaying in Lima's G&G Cafe the night of Dec. 10, 1954.

James C. Blair, attorney for Orth, indicated after the sentencing he would file an appeal on grounds of "double jeopardy." The defense contends that Orth, who had been acquitted of the murder in connection with the holdup,

Stands Firm On Defense, Foreign Aid

Says Big Slash May Knock Out 'Essential' Domestic Programs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today America is going to suffer if any severe cuts are made in government spending for such things as foreign aid and national defense.

Emphatically, Eisenhower told his news conference he does not believe a cut of up to five billion dollars, as suggested by Sen. Byrd (D-Va), can be made in the administration's $71,800,000,000 budget without giving up some essential domestic programs.

Dollars for Peace

As for foreign aid, Eisenhower said no dollars being spent today are being spent more wisely for the future peace and prosperity of the world than those being put into the mutual security field.

Eisenhower spent a good part of his half-hour news conference expounding his views regarding demands in Congress for substantial reductions in the budget for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Over and over, he expressed the view that substantial reductions would mean elimination or drastic curtailment of important programs.

Sees Possible Areas

He did go on to say that there are ways—in the field of government spending in connection with the states, for example—where it may be possible to save some money.

Eisenhower also spoke again of wiping out the postal deficit, a plug for his proposal to raise mail rates.

This was Eisenhower's first news conference since he returned last weekend from Bermuda talks with Britain's Prime Minister Macmillan.

Several of the questions put to him dealt with those negotiations.

Eisenhower went to Bermuda on a Navy cruiser in the hope of building up his health on a round-about voyage of six days.

Asked today how he is feeling, Eisenhower smiled and replied that he is feeling better but certainly would like to get a little more sun.

Cough Better

Asked about the stubborn cough which has been bothering him for about two months, Eisenhower said it is better.

The conference ranged over these other subjects:

Bermuda — Eisenhower replied no, not at all, when asked whether the Bermuda agreement to furnish guided missiles to Britain would result in any increase in U. S. production of atomic weapons. He went on to say that Britain already is producing certain fission weapons, and that the Bermuda agreement means this

State To Study Malabar Farm Purchase Plan

Legislative Body Is Formed To Consider Buying Writer's Place

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Legislature has decided to give full-dress study to possible state purchase of famed Malabar Farm in Richland County.

The home of the late author and conservationist Louis Bromfield is up for sale. Under a House-approved resolution adopted Tuesday by the Senate, a legislative committee must recommend five weeks from today whether the state should buy the farm. The price is $145,000.

If it buys the once-rundown farm restored by modern conservation techniques, the state might continue its use as an experimental farm. It might also use it as a site for a proposed eastern Ohio State university.

The Senate decision to support the Malabar purchase study came during a marathon three-hour floor session. Debate also waxed hot and heavy over bills to cut the license fees for transit buses and to authorize construction and provide for the administration of a big Guernsey County lake in the Salt Fork watershed. Both bills passed overwhelmingly.

Meanwhile, the House was passing and sending to the Senate a bill to create a fifth post of deputy highway director. The new deputy would be in charge of right-of-way purchases. The bill is backed by the administration of Gov. C. William O'Neill.

The House also sent to the Senate bills providing a general revision of Ohio drainage laws and permitting in-service training for Ohio Highway Department technicians.

'Won't Please Everyone'

Dag Brings Suez Plan Back to U.S.

CAIRO (AP) — Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold left for his U. N. headquarters today with Egypt's plan for running the Suez Canal. Informed sources said the plan "won't please everyone but it should be acceptable to the United States."

The plan was not made public officially but the informants said Hammarskjold had "ameliorated" President Nasser's original views during their talks that began here last week.

"Hammarskjold had to get the best possible plan out of a bad situation," they added. "Now he will carry the plan to interested parties at the United Nations."

Main Provision

U. N., Egyptian and diplomatic sources said the main provisions of the plan calls for:

All canal tolls to be collected by Egyptian authorities, as previously emphasized by Egypt.

Placing of a fixed percentage of tolls in a separate account for use by a U N technical assistance board for maintenance and development of the canal. One Cairo press report said this would be 25 per cent.

Another percentage to be placed in escrow for settlement of compensation claims by stockholders of the old Suez Canal Co. One source estimated this amount at 5 per cent.

Reaffirmation of the 1888 Constantinople Convention to guarantee freedom of shipping through the canal.

Open to Revision

Hammarskjold was said to feel the 1888 convention guaranteeing unhindered access to the canal adequate in its present form, although it might be revised later.

The informants said any country believing the convention was not being carried out could appeal to the World Court.

While the convention calls for freedom of shipping for all nations, Egypt has barred Israeli ships on grounds that a technical state of war still exists between Egypt and Israel. The convention provides for refusal of passage to enemy ships on the basis of security.

Hammarskjold was said to ex-

Club Owner's Secretary Hit By Assailants

NEW YORK (AP) — Miss Sally Dawson, secretary to Stork Club owner Sherman Billingsley, was assaulted by two men as she entered the building where she lives at 3:50 a.m. today, police reported.

The 23-year-old, red-haired secretary told police that each of the men struck her once, giving her two black eyes, and warned her:

"If you don't stop working for Billingsley and stay away from those cameras and shorthand and records, the next time we'll break every bone in your body."

Police quoted Billingsley as saying Miss Dawson took photographs and also recorded by shorthand and wire recorder the conversations among union pickets outside the Stork Club Tuesday night.

Film Awards Due Tonight

Bergman, Brynner Are 'Oscar' Race Favorites

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Tonight is Oscar night and, as usual, the only safe prediction is that the men stars will wear tuxes and the women will wear mink.

But Hollywood being the betting town it is, there is a morning line of favorites. Here is the consensus of the so-called experts:

Best actress — Ingrid Bergman.

Best actor — Yul Brynner.

Best picture — "Around the World in 80 Days."

Best supporting actress —Dorothy Malone.

Best supporting actor — Robert Stack.

Best director — George Stevens.

Best song — "True Love."

However, most of the industry will concede that this is the closest Academy Awards race in years —and anything can happen.

Stevens won the Screen Director's Guild award for his helming of "Giant" and in the last five years the winner of the SDG award has gone on to win the Oscar.

Miss Bergman, the glamorous Swede, absent from town since she took up with Roberto Rossellini in 1949, faces her stiffest competition from the popular Deborah Kerr. Others in the race are Katharine Hepburn, Carroll Baker and Nancy Kelly.

Brynner is the favorite of all men who comb their hair with a towel and the Academy has enough bald-headed voters to swing it. But Brynner also has three of the year's best performances working for him in "The King and I," "Anastasia" and "The Ten Commandments."

His main competition will come

Sears Seeks Audience

Meeting With Governor Sought on Local Traffic

An airing of Marion's traffic problem before Ohio Governor C. William O'Neill and Charles M. Noble, acting state highway director, has been requested by a Marion Chamber of Commerce group.

A letter requesting a meeting with the governor and Mr. Noble sometime before April 18 was sent to Gov. O'Neill by David H. Sears, a member of the traffic subcommittee of the civic affairs committee of the Marion Chamber of Commerce. He said he expects a reply sometime this week.

"Marion, as you know, due to the railroads and to the heavy traffic through the main sections of town, is in a deplorable situation for traffic movement north to south and east to west and again the railroads are a great hindrance to that traffic," Mr. Sears wrote in his letter to the governor.

Noting that a by-pass had been discussed here previously, Mr. Sears continued that ". . . it seems no one has come up with the correct and feasible answer to this problem."

He added, "There are several ways, in my opinion, which would be helpful in alleviating the condition."

Mr. Sears said Tuesday afternoon that while he personally would favor a by-pass which would take Route 23 outside the city limits, he is for any proposal that would provide traffic improvements for the city.

Purpose of the meeting is to discuss the problems with the state officials and try to work out ways and means of obtaining state and federal aid to alleviate them, he said.

Byrd Says Ike Should Submit Lower Budget

Virginian Declares President Controls $70 Billion Backlog

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Byrd (D-Va) said today President Eisenhower controls a backlog of 70 billion dollars in available funds. As a result, he added, Congress can't make any "real reduction" in spending without Eisenhower's help.

Byrd, who heads the Senate Finance Committee, called on Eisenhower to submit to Congress a downward revision in his estimated $71,800,000,000 spending program for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Need Ike's Cooperation

Contending that there now is on hand 70 billion dollars in balances voted by previous Congresses, Byrd said the lawmakers can cut the President's new money requests and still not achieve any real reductions in expenditures unless Eisenhower cooperates with them.

"I fully realize the responsibility for enacting appropriations rests in Congress," Byrd said, "but the President controls the rate and the time of expenditures. It is my firm conviction that coordinate action between the President and the Congress is essential to bring about retrenchment."

Eisenhower has said he is willing to cooperate, but has insisted that it is Congress' primary duty to find places where his budget can be cut.

Doesn't Expect Action

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, said in a separate interview that while the administration is giving intensive study to possible economies, he does not expect Eisenhower to submit any specific recommendations in this field.

However, Chairman Saltonstall (Mass) of the Conference of All Republican Senators, said Budget Director Percival Brundage told congressional leaders at a White House meeting Tuesday he hopes to have a report soon on possible economies.

Saltonstall said he assumes the report will go to Eisenhower.

Knowland has called for a two-billion - dollar slash in proposed spending. Byrd has insisted reductions of 6½ billion dollars can be made.

Contracts Let For 2 Sewer Projects Here

Contracts for construction of new sewers on Oak Grove and Underwood avenues were awarded today to Carl's Plumbing and Heating of 419 Blaine Ave., Safety Service Director R. Guy Bigelow said today.

Mr. Bigelow said the local company submitted the low bid for the two jobs before the filing deadline Monday noon.

In all, there were six bidders for both projects, with Carl's entering a low price quotation of $7,712 for the Oak Grove job, and $15,719 for vitrified pipe and $15,589 on concrete pipe for the Underwood Ave. program, Mr. Bigelow indicated. All quotations for the Oak Grove job were for concrete pipe.

Second low bidder on the Underwood project was Plumley Contractors, Inc., of Marion, whose figure for vitrified pipe was $16,172. Other bids were as follows: K&P Plumbing of Lima, $16,875, vitrified pipe, $16,568, concrete; Central Excavating of Marion, $20,646, vetrified, $20,351, concrete; Verderber, Inc., of Toledo, $20,754, vitrified, $20,597, concrete; and Tiffin Excavating of Tiffin, $20,965, vitrified, and $20,999, concrete.

The Plumley company also submitted the second low bid for the Oak Grove job, a total of $8,260. K&P had the third low figure of $9,713, while Central Excavating was fourth low on a figure of $10,242. Verderber quoted a price of $10,587, and Tiffin Excavating bid $16,914 for the job, according to Mr. Bigelow.

The work on the two projects is expected to begin as soon as current obligations have been fulfilled and equipment and men can be shifted to the job sites.

Repair Work Completed at Local Airport

Repairs of runway lights and sewerage facilities at Marion Municipal Airport have been completed, Safety-Service Director R. Guy Bigelow said today

He said temporary repairs have been completed so that lights on both runways now may be lighted Previously only the lights on one runway were partially operative

The repairs were made by the Triple Service Co., electrical contractors, who originally installed the runway lighting system.

Restoration of all the lights will permit full night operations at the airport for both Lake Central Airlines planes and the smaller aircraft. Lake Central has never suspended its night operations because of the lights but some of the smaller aircraft owners have had to restrict some of their night flying, it was reported

Mr. Bigelow said that the temporary repairs should be made permanent as soon as possible but added this will cost a considerable amount of money to accomplish.

He also said that a new septic tank, filter beds and grease traps have been installed to serve the airport and that they meet the requirements of the health department.

Merger Issue For Ridgedale Still Unsettled

Proposal To Combine High School Classes Now Being Discussed

The Ridgedale Board of Education, meeting Tuesday night in Morral School, failed to reach a decision on a proposal to combine the high school classes of Meeker and Morral at the latter school until the new high school building is completed.

F. D. Goare, superintendent of Morral and acting superintendent of the recently-formed Ridgedale school district, said this morning plans for the proposed merger were "still in the talking" stage.

The plan, if approved, would provide for moving high school students presently attending Meeker, to the Morral School, which has sufficient room and accommodations to provide for the added enrollment. This would alleviate a crowded situation at Meeker, where two classes now are being held in each of the intermediate grades.

The merger also would enable school administrators to broaden the high school curriculum for pupils of both schools. The athletic program of the Ridgedale district already has been enlarged to provide for suitable athletic schedules when the Ridgedale High School is completed.

A survey currently is being taken of public opinion on the proposed merger in both the Meeker and Morral districts, and Mr. Goare says another meeting probably will be called in the near future to consider the problem further.

Sunday School Session Planned by Ministers

Plans are being made for a Sunday School conference by the Fundamental Ministerial Fellowship for May. Discussion was held at the last meeting of the group at Emmanuel Baptist Church in Marion. The conference was planned originally for April but has been postponed in order to have available the services of the workers chosen for the meeting, it was explained.

The Youth for Christ rally in April was arranged for the last Saturday of the month and a "singspiration" was scheduled for May 4 at Union Baptist Church at West Jackson where Rev. James Taylor is pastor. Members of the fellowship group will attend a meeting of the American Council of Christian Churches at Elyria April 1 and 2. The next meeting of the local group will be April 15 at Union Baptist Church.

Rev. C. E. Hershey, host pastor, led devotions. Rev. John Williams of Columbus, former pastor of the LaRue Baptist Church, was a guest and gave the closing prayer.

Cantata Will Be Sung By Green Camp Groups

Musicians from four churches of the Green Camp community have set the night of Good Friday, April 19, for presentation of a sacred cantata, "Olivet to Calvary," by Maunder. The group of about 45 voices will appear at the Evangelical and Reformed Church under direction of John Haberman with Mrs. Bryan Martin as organist and Mrs. Marion Harper, pianist.

Others are from the host church, the Green Camp and Mount Olive Methodist Churches and the Green Camp Baptist Church. Rehearsals have been under way since early in the year. Last year, three of the churches presented an Easter cantata directed by Mr. Haberman.

Union Council Opposes Daylight Saving Time

Opposition to Daylight Saving Time was expressed at a meeting of the Marion County Industrial Union Council Tuesday night.

After considerable discussion it was the general opinion that the change would work a hardship on too many labor group members, especially those employed in factories with two or three work shifts. Norval Foreman presided.

Members voted to purchase a moving picture projector which is to be available to all affiliated unions.

Plea for Freedom By Inmate Denied

In a hearing in Common Pleas Court this morning, Judge Paul D. Smith denied a writ of habeas corpus petition for release from the Marion Correctional Institution filed by Henry Boyden Williams, an inmate of the institution.

Williams filed the action against Lamoyne Green, superintendent of the MCI March 18. Mr. Green was represented by an attorney from the state attorney general's office.

The petitioner alleged that he was being detained illegally as the result of a ruling by a Franklin County Common Pleas Court jury.

Williams was convicted Jan. 25, 1956, by the jury on charges of housebreaking and larceny. He was sentenced to serve two terms in the Ohio Penitentiary, one of one-to-five years and the other one-to-seven years, with the sentences to run concurrently.

Williams maintained that the court had no jurisdiction to separate the charges for the purpose of sentencing to confinement since he was convicted under one indictment. He stated that because of this action he was being forced to serve a two-year minimum term on an illegal sentence.

Daylight Time

There is ample room for honest differences of opinion on the Daylight Saving Time question, but opposition to the idea should not lead to erroneous impressions.

A municipal government, whether it operates under a charter or the state code, is perfectly free to adopt Daylight Saving Time if it so desires.

Virtually all of northeast Ohio is on daylight time, and by no means all the cities in that area operate on charters. In fact, in all probability more of them still are under the state code than a charter.

The idea of daylight time has been steadily gaining new adherents. In fact, "fast" time is so widespread along its main line that the Erie Railroad is printing its timetables in daylight time this year.

Getting back to the method of adopting daylight time, it is our opinion that it should be done by councilmanic action. At this point the question is academic, since the ordinance now being read in City Council hinges on the decision on the issue in Columbus.

Several suggestions were made by visitors at the council meeting Monday night that the issue should be put to a vote of the people here. We think council is proceeding correctly right now, and that if daylight time becomes a reality here it should be instituted by a vote of council.

Beck Leads Both Ways

It is going to appear to many Americans, including his fellow Teamsters, in some instances, that Dave Beck placed himself on trial before the Senate rackets investigators by standing on his constitutional rights.

All the investigators wanted from him was testimony. But Beck, whose actions with regard to funds of the Teamsters Union had been prominent in previous testimony, leaped to the conclusion that his testimony would incriminate him.

He did not wait for the U.S. Department of Justice to go through the formality of an indictment and a trial; he, in effect, indicted, tried and convicted himself by refusing to testify about his handling of Teamsters funds.

This is a remarkable position for a union leader to adopt. Mr. Beck was not on trial. He was only a witness at a hearing.

But now he must plead innocent before his union after telling his government that he will not testify for fear of incriminating himself before the law. It remains to be seen what his union will do.

This always has been the main point of suspense in the hearings — whether or not the Teamsters will resent the implication that union officials should be held accountable for their actions. The purpose of the Senate racket investigators is to learn what new laws may be needed to make them accountable, whether they want to be accountable or not.

Linear Basketball

The sports writers agree that the newest changes in basketball rules are confusing.

They also agree that changing the rules each year to take care of the special problems of basketball coaches is silly.

So there is nothing to be said about the way coaches manhandle Dr. Naismith's fine invention. Like referees and Elvis Presley, the basketball coaches are too much with us.

But there is one word an editorialist would like to get in sideways about basketball while gate receipts from another successful season are being totaled.

Whatever became of the suggestion that basketball teams be limited to a certain number of linear inches and handicapped one basket for every inch of surplus? The allowable maximum without penalty would be 360 inches — the equivalent of five six-footers. For every inch in excess of 360, the team with height to spare would give away one basket. In no time at all, the market for seven - footers would sag and parents could quit stretching their young 'uns.

Horses to Water

"You cannot lead a horse to water, but if you keep the gate open he will quench his thirst."

Everyone trying to keep a downtown urban area from strangling in traffic is watching a struggle between opposing camps of opinion in Cleveland.

In one camp are Clevelanders who argue that the way to save downtown Cleveland is to furnish more public transportation, with special emphasis on rapid transit and subways.

In the other camp are Clevelanders who argue that rapid transit and subways are no substitute for personal transportation; that people now prefer to ride in automobiles and buses; that the only way to save the downtown area, therefore, is to make it as accessible to motorists as the newer suburban shopping areas have made themselves.

The moral of Cleveland's experience can be applied to all cities trying to save downtown areas. People cannot be made to go to them. But if the gate is kept open they will find their way through it.

Dangerous Doctrine

By David Lawrence

U.S. Injunction Tool Circumvents Constitution

The end seems to justify the means — and if the Constitution stands in the way, it must be circumvented.

Lawrence

This is a dangerous doctrine in a democracy and one that the American people will resent to the utmost. But it comes in effect, from the chairman of the Senate subcommittee on constitutional rights, Sen. Thomas Hennings of Missouri. Sen. Henninger, Democrat, who, though denying any intention to abandon jury trial in America, says frankly that, because southern juries will not convict in "civil rights" cases, some way has to be found to get around them.

In a formal memorandum to the members of the Senate Committee on the Judiciary, Mr. Hennings says:

"We know that, regardless of the facts, juries in some such cases are not likely to convict. An alternative is the grant of injunctive relief to the United States."

Thsi means "government by injunction." It is something that the labor unions successfully fought until they got relief from Congress in the Norris - La Guardia anti-injunction law. But this is a special privilege granted only to individuals involved in labor disputes.

Now it is intended to punish without jury trial any citizens who become involved in any way in disputes over "civil rights."

THIS, OF COURSE, would result because the suits in "civil rights" cases would be prosecuted in the name of the "United States," and such a device automatically bars any jury trial.

The Missouri Senator frankly admits this. In fact, his candor is to be commended, for he takes issue with Assistant Attorney General Olney of the criminal division of the Department of Justice, who on March 15 issued a statement arguing that the defendants in the Clinton, Tenn., case had not been deprived of a jury trial.

Mr. Olney contended that, because in the middle of the proceedings the "United States" had been made a party to the suit, this was a "technical" matter and it didn't mean jury trial had been forfeited. Here is what the assistant attorney general said:

"The right to a jury trail is not a matter of discretion to be granted or withheld by the Department of Justice or by the court and could not in any case be defeated by the substitution, for technical reasons, of the name of the United States on the contempt citation."

But the memorandum by Sen. Hennings, which he says is supported by an exhaustive analysis made by the chief counsel of the Senate subcommittee on constitutional rights, takes the opposite view.

MR. HENNINGS, after giving a list of 28 federal statutes in which injunctions may be issued, says:

"As outlined above, with one exception (labor disputes cases under the Norris - La Guardia Act), there is no right to trial by jury in cases for criminal contempt of court for violations of injunctions, under these statutes, where the United States is a party to the case."

The history of this type of case under federal injunctions shows that, where contempt is committed in the presence of the court or where the principal who is ordered to obey an injunction disregards it, he may be hauled into court and tried and punished without a jury trial.

In the Clinton, Tenn., case, however, the complainants were private individuals who said that 18 defendants had conspired to violate the federal injunction.

These alleged acts were committed outside the court room.

The defendants were not principals in the dispute.

The school board itself had complied with the federal injunction ordering the end of segregation.

Then, all of a sudden, the Department of Justice on Feb. 25 last asked the court to change the name of the case and insert the name "United States" as the complaining party.

This automatically bars a jury trial because the law specifically says so.

SURELY THE American people are entitled to know what's going on here and what subterfuges are being used at Clinton. For, if what happened in the Clinton case is valid — in fact, the federal judge promptly approved the change in the name of the case — then "civil rights" legislation by the Senate or the House isn't really necessary after all.

If, indeed, "the end justifies the means," the Department of Justice, whether authorized or not by "civil rights" legislation, can change the name of any case and deprive the defendants of a jury trial in criminal contempt cases.

There need be no explanation given except perhaps the excuse of "technical reasons," though everyone will know that it's really an effort to get around the fact that southern juries might not bring in convictions in "civil rights" cases.

A constitutional amendment is the logical way to deal with the whole problem. If two - thirds of both houses of Congress and three-fourths of the states want to take away or limit further the right of trial by jury, then the Constitution and law will order it done — and such orders will be obeyed.

Salute for the Birds

By TRUMAN TWILL

Hello and happy springtime to all the birds that have flocked in on us like relatives in the good old summertime.

Hello to the yellow-bellied coward, the red-necked suitor, the great blue heron, the big bazoo, the soft-spoken insult, the extra slick operator, the murmuring lover and the striped seersucker;

Happy springtime to the Baltimore oracle, the New York fop, the suburban enthusiast, the horn-beaked reactionary, the half-baked theory, the fugitive rum-runner, the great horny owl and the little white fib;

Hello to the human-toed windjammer, the hollow-bellied howler, the chicken - hearted escort, the lily - livered curmudgeon, the sharp - tongued shrew, the flop-eared overseer and the beady-eyed entrepremeur;

They are all fine birds, not a louse among them.

Happy springtime, also, to the bushy-maned cornball, the dark brown taster, the shovel - tailed matron, the thinly-veiled innuendo, the needle-pointed dilemma, the technical fowl and the screaming meemy;

Hello again, hello, to the duck-footed wobbler, the turkey-necked soprano, the speckled acne, the ever-listening eavesdropper, the dirty canard, the casual goose, the bashful wren and the high-flying mouse;

Happy springtime indeed to the noiseless clipper, the flitting yegg, the premonitory shiver, the meadow lark, the fleeting remorse, the furtive foray and the half-seen flicker;

The seasonal best of everything to the singing commercial, the cross-eyed jabberwocky, the hairy-breasted drooler, the sparrow-legged spinster, the presleyed pelvis, the millionaire groaner and the sophisticated Sinatra;

The best of everything in season to the well brushed blue, the tattletale gray, the crimson-throated screecher, the tattered wrap-around, the Australian craze and the Japanese import;

All felicitations to the shrubbery-seeking footpad, the cliff-hanging weeper, the telltale ash the snaggle-toothed hag, the belted kingfish and the unfrocked cleric.

Long may their tail feathers wave and the cats stay away from their nests.

Also kindly thoughts for the growling gizzard, the primordial impulse, the arrant nonsense, the obese windjammer, the punctilious apple-polisher, the hopeless roughneck, the concealed flap, the lightning-fast manipulator, the embarrassed suitor, the ring-tailed exhibitionist, the shameless extrovert, the black-balled outcast, the skulking revenuer, the bewhiskered fright, the underpowered hedge-hopper, the grubby minion, the harmless peculation and the strutting harlot.

May they have a merry time during their stay with us this summer and yell themselves hoarse every morning starting about 5. And may they all live and multiply so when they fly away next fall they will leave behind them a vast, but not an aching, void.

Holding It Up

Reuther's Indignation

By Raymond Moley

Since Walter Reuther is a shrewd politician, his blast at the activities of Beck and Hoffa is a routine reaction against anything which might lessen the esteem in which the unions are held by the long - suffering public.

The crafty CIO - UAW head terms Beck's loans to himself without interest to be "highly improper, inexcusable and morally indefensible."

As to Hoffa, he says that if the charges in the indictment are proved, the teamster vice president should go to jail. Reuther's view of the talkative Brewster is that he should be removed from office.

AS A BIT OF diversion Reuther proposes, to prevent any such practices from arising in his union, that a "public review board" be established "composed of outstanding public citizens whose integrity and general acceptance are beyond question."

This board would hold hearings and make decisions "on cases appealed to it by any member of the UAW."

The review board would be selected at each future convention of the union.

It will be noted that this board is thus limited to cases appealed from decisions of the International Executive Board of the union.

—:—

WHETHER ANY member of the union would have the means or the temerity to carry a review that far is extremely unlikely.

Members who want to be left alone and peaceably pay their dues just do not do those things in the UAW or in almost any other union.

It is a fair question whether Reuther would be willing to submit to such a board the question whether the officers of the UAW may use the general funds of the union for the promotion of political plans and candidates selected largely by Reuther himself.

Fortunately there is such a review board in the United States, composed of "public citizens" who have already passed upon that question.

THAT BOARD IS known to students of law and history as the Supreme Court of the United States. Its judgment is that such use of general funds under the name "education" or any other designation is illegal and, at least by inference, morally indefensible.

There is an indictment now revived and pending against the Reuther union for such use of members' money.

It may be that Reuther believes it to be less shocking to use money out of general funds for politics than to use it for a personal purpose such as that which Beck had in mind.

But such use, according to the laws of the United States and according to the Supreme Court, is a denial of the rights of minority members.

The prohibition of the use of money in political contests by corporations and unions was based upon the very sound ground that stockholders and union members alike who do not share the political views of officers of corporations and unions should not have their money used in political affairs.

Super Atom Smasher

By WILLIAM SCOVILL

PALO ALTO

The world's most powerful atom smasher will be constructed in the foothills of Stanford University's 10,000 - acre campus here.

Reason for using the school's foothills is that present plans call for an atom smasher two miles long and mostly underground. Stanford officials are negotiating with the Atomic Energy Commission to finance a giant electron cannon modeled on Stanford's present 300-foot linear accelerator.

The linear accelerator differs from the better - known cyclotron type of atom smasher in that it shoots bullets of atomic particles down a long tube rather than whirling them in circles to pick up speed and energy.

Stanford spokesmen say the discussions with the AEC are still "very preliminary" and physicists of the Stanford high energy laboratory admit only that the new machine will develop power in the "multibillion" - volt range.

The university's present atom smasher develops about 700 electron volts.

Atomic particles (electrons) are shot down the machine's barrel, riding microwaves much as a surfboard rider on the crest of an ocean wave.

The speed of the microwaves—and electrons — in the long tube is more than 99 per cent the speed of light. At the tube's end the electrons crash into target atoms, breaking up the targets into other sub-atomic particles and permitting the study of what goes into making up atoms.

Purpose of the two - mile machine would be to increase the speed of the microwaves and electrons even closer to the unreachable speed of light by means of extra booster units along the barrel of the "cannon." At the end of the tube, the Stanford physicists hope the atomic "targets" will be shattered into even smaller pieces, thus permitting the discovery of new particles and perhaps even the discovery of the "glue" which holds together the nucleus of the atom.

A relatively tiny version of this same linear accelerator is now being used at Stanford Medical school, in San Francisco, to produce an especially useful X-ray for treatment of deep-seated cancer in human beings.

Bermuda Reports Conflicting

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON

Within less than a week after the Bermuda conference — between President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Macmillan—Americans and British are disagreeing on what they agreed to.

If this keeps up, the Bermuda meeting will look like a farce which may have done more damage than it was intended to repair.

To the Republicans two of the dirtiest words in the language are "secret agreements." They made as much political hay as they could out of denouncing President Roosevelt's Yalta agreements with Stalin. The last thing they want wrapped around their necks is a charge that Eisenhower and Macmillan reached secret agreements.

WHEN EISENHOWER flew home Sunday, Macmillan and his party remained in Bermuda

On Monday and again Tuesday American correspondents who also remained at Bermuda have written stories—based on information given them by the British — that Eisenhower and Macmillan reached accord on documents described variously as directives, agreements and protocols, more than 25 of them in writing.

Four times now in those two days the Eisenhower administration has denied there were any secret agreements.

The primary purpose of the Bermuda meeting was to mend the split — due to a loss of confidence — between the United States and Britain. The split occurred last fall when Britain, joining France and Israel, attacked Egypt.

The British did so without consulting this country, in whose handling of Egyptian President Nasser it had lost confidence. The British were for direct action. The Eisenhower administration wanted to go easy.

Before Eisenhower and Macmillan parted Sunday they issued a public statement on what they discussed and agreed to. It was full of trite opinions and showed the two men hadn't agreed on much of specific import.

AFTER EISENHOWER left, Macmillan held a press conference where he said he and Eisenhower had agreed on the policies the United States and Britain must take to obtain interim and long-term settlements in the Middle East.

The public statement had said no such thing. Tuesday at his news conference Secretary of State Dulles said there had been no agreements on the Middle East. Dulles also said there had been no written understandings not made public, except one.

He said there was a "procedural" understanding for "reviewing the intelligence arrangements which we have concerning alerts."

On Monday at his White House conference with congressional leaders — to tell them what had happened at Bermuda — Eisenhower reportedly said there had been no secret agreements.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Speaking of Bargains

Newspapers in many cities and towns are raising prices. In New York two big ones jumped to 10 cents. This is a long hop from the age of the penny and 2-cent newspaper, when a 1-cent rise could kill circulation. But nothing has sold so long for so little.

If there is any product worth more money it is your family newspaper. It is a bargain of bargains at anything near prevailing prices and it's a laugh to hear otherwise from anybody who pays 20 cents for a bus ride, $5 for a musical show, 75 cents for a watery cocktail, $4.50 for a steak dinner, a dime for a phone call and a quarter for a cigar.

THE NEWSPAPER has been selling for years below the cost of the white paper. While magazines soared to two-bits per copy and books doubled in price, the American newspaper publisher stuck almost to a giveaway program. It looked like a demonstration in a feat of magic.

-:-

THE DAY MAY BE near when a dime will be the routine price for most dailies. And the buyer who complains will be a poor judge of values.

Where else can you get the world picture, tomorrow's weather, the crossword puzzles, the funnies, the economic situation, the tide table, the local news roundup, a part - time gardener, advice to the lovelorn, health tips, patterns, the recipe for lobster a la king, the racing results, advice on feeding the dog and the latest data on Marilyn Monroe for a dime?

For that money who would give you the complete data on auctions, lawsuits, divorces, deaths, weddings, baseball and the right time to go clamming?

YOUR DAILY newspaper is a combination compass, barometer, chart, lifeguard, pilot, skipper, adviser, consultant, kibitzer, friend, tutor, general store, pathfinder, family bible, almanac, cookbook, doctor, nurse, buddy and passing parade. At a nickel any good newspaper is being donated to you. At 10 cents the publisher is still registering benevolence.

IN "BROADWAY IN A BARN," Charlotte Harmon and Rosemary Taylor tell a swell story of summer theaters. . .The former, with her husband Lewis Harmon, began their straw hat circuit operations in their twenties in Stony Creek and Guilford, Conn., had pretty rough going, and did a wonderful job in nearby Clinton, which has one of the finest summer theaters in the land.

The community is so progressive and warm-hearted toward show biz that when the Harmons decided to pull out because of hot weather box-office losses the town voted funds to air-condition the theater while many of its officials and citizens subscribed to a stock issue. . .Clinton is a small country town so stage struck that members of its government, the town undertaker and its best known minister often played small parts in the shows. . .

Mrs. Harmon puts the blast on a number of theater stars as giving her plenty of headaches, including Ilka Chase, Joe E. Brown and John Barrymore Jr.

She reveals that during her time at the Guilford playhouse her choice for the lead in "Born Yesterday" was Ernest Borgnine, than an unknown and anxious for work at $75 per week.

It's swell reading but this corner thinks the book gives an unfair picture of Harry Durant, landlord of the Guilford theater. . He is portrayed as a hick character, given to the clipped sentences of the rural Yank, but Durant knows the big league and was a New York top magazine editor years ago.

Freeman Gosden and Charlie Gorrell (Amos and Andy) celebrated their 30th year on the air the other day. . .They began away back in the days of the Happiness Boys and the ginger ale eskimos.

Member Drive For Orchestra Begins Locally

A membership campaign to increase the size of the orchestra started under the Adult Education program in January, was announced today by Homer Huffman, director, in an attempt to form a civic symphony here.

Persons playing viola, violin, flute, wind and percussion instruments are particularly needed, he said.

Those living outside the city are invited to join the group as are Marion residents. Rehearsals for the time being are held Tuesday nights from 7:30-9:30 p.m. in Room 128 at Harding High School. The rehearsal room is located at the northeast side of the building.

Persons participating in church orchestras locally or who once played in the Harding orchestra are invited to become members of the newly-formed group. Mr. Huffman pointed out that there are no membership fees.

Those interested in joining the group should come to the rehearsal next Tuesday, the director said.

New ARRID with Perstop* Stops Perspiration and Odor

DRAMATIC STEAMBATH TEST SHOWS HOW

1 ARRID with Perstop* was rubbed into this woman's forehead. Then she was put into a steambath at 104°. Fifteen minutes later . . .

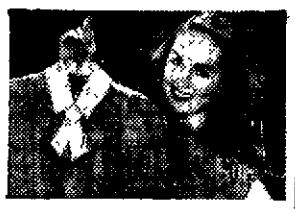
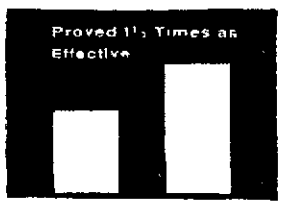
3 Just rub ARRID in—rub perspiration and odor out. When the cream vanishes you know you're safe, even in hot, stuffy rooms.



4 ARRID with Perstop*, used daily, keeps your clothes safe from ugly perspiration stains, keeps your underarms dry, soft and sweet.



5 Doctors have proved in laboratory tests that ARRID with Perstop* is 1½ times as effective as all leading deodorants tested against perspiration and odor.

Remember—nothing protects you like a cream. And no cream protects you like ARRID. Don't be half safe. Be completely safe. Use ARRID to be sure. 43¢ plus tax.

Schoolboy, 10, Hits $96,000 TV Quiz Mark

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert Strom, 10-year-old science whiz, Tuesday night flashed to the $96,000 level in his bid to win a possible $256,000 on a television quiz show.

The Bronx schoolboy breezed through a complicated six - part question on fluorescent lamps and electricity. That added $16,000 to his previous $80,000 winnings on CBS' "The $64,000 Question."

Next week he will return to try for $128,000

Tuesday night Robert was shown the component parts of an electric fluorescent circuit. He was given this introductory statement:

In this fluorescent lamp an electric arc flows through a certain vapor and transforms electrical watt input into radiation at a certain wave length. This radiation, in turn, excites the phosphor coating on the inside of the lamp.

Young Strom swiftly answered:

The wave length is 2537 angstroms; mercury is the vapor; argon is the other principal gas inside the lamp; ultraviolet is the radiation.

In the fifth part of the question he correctly explained that a 60-watt incandescent lamp gives only as much light as a 20-watt fluorescent lamp because the conventional lamp expends most of its energy in heat, not light.

Robert polished off his night's work by easily joining five wires to make the fluorescent light circuit operative. He was told beforehand there were 2,000 different ways to do it wrong.

Only minor damage was done to both vehicles when they collided. No injuries were reportedly sustained.

Hardin Youths Fined After Shooting at Car

KENTON — Three Hardin County Juveniles were arraigned in Logan County Juvenile Court Monday afternoon on charges of discharging a firearm on a public highway. Charges were filed by the State Highway Patrol following an episode in which the boys fired a .22 caliber rifle from an auto in which they were riding damaging an auto which was following them The incident happened last Thursday on the Belle Center Pike.

The boys were fined $25 and costs each and ordered by Judge A. T. Bray to pay for damages to the car fired on which was owned by Charles Scott of Belle Center.

A 'MUST' FOR SPACE TRAVELERS. Erika Garner holds a tiny gadget that may soon be standard equipment for space travelers. Called a saystrom erosion gauge, it will ride the outside of the first earth satellite to determine whether or not 18,000-mile-per-hour meteorite dust clouds will destroy future spaceships. The device is on display at the Institute of Radio Engineers convention in the New York City Coliseum.

Dog Causes Crawford County Traffic Crash

BUCYRUS — A black dog which darted across Route 602, about one mile south of North Robinson at 1 p.m. Tuesday figured in the single accident investigated by Bucyrus post patrolmen.

A northbound car driven by Clifford Hammer, 23, of Mansfield, swerved to the right side of the highway to avoid hitting the animal and in doing so struck two mailboxes, patrolmen said.

Minor damage was done to the vehicle and to the mail boxes. No injuries were sustained, the accident report indicated. The dog escaped being struck.

Top Threats to Yanks' Rule Have Their Troubles

Tigers, Indians Set Slow Pace in Training Contests

By The Associated Press

It may be true, as Manager Jack Tighe says, that some of his Detroit Tigers are not earning their keep.

But he couldn't have been referring to Harvey Kuenn, an old reliable at 26. No matter how bad the Bengals get, Kuenn, a .332 hitter last year, goes his cool and calm way.

He already has hit three home runs this spring, including one in Tuesday's 8-4 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs at Lakeland, Fla.

In fact, if it weren't for Kuenn's efforts against the Redlegs, the Tigers would have gone down to another defeat. In addition to his home run, he crashed out a single and two doubles for a perfect day at bat.

But the Tigers, who are rated one of the New York Yankees' main stumbling blocks in the pennant chase, still have a poor record — six victories and 10 defeats.

The Cleveland Indians, who also fancy themselves as contenders, are also having troubles. They went down to another defeat — this one a 7-6 decision to the Baltimore Orioles — at Scottsdale, Ariz.

The Orioles won the game in the ninth inning on Wayne Causey's two-run pinch single and another single by rookie Brooks Robinson.

Elsewhere, the Brooklyn Dodgers defeated the Philadelphia Phillies 8-3 at Clearwater; the New York Giants nipped the Chicago Cubs 7-6 at Mesa, Ariz.; the Pittsburgh Pirates whitewashed the St. Louis Cardinals 4-0 at St. Petersburg; the Washington Senators turned back the Kansas City A's 8-7 at Orlando; and the Boston Red Sox edges the Los Angeles Angels of the Pacific Coast League 6-5 in Los Angeles.

The Brooks got to left-hander Harvey Haddix for eight straight hits and seven runs in the third inning. Don Newcombe went six innings for the Dodgers and was touched for all the Phillies' runs.

Don Mueller turned an apparent defeat into victory for the Giants when he hit a grand slam home run off Turk Lown with two out in the ninth.

Dick Hall, Nelson King and Elroy Face divided the Pirate shutout over the Cards. Combined, they allowed only two hits.

Kansas City had four home runs against the Senators, including two by Yank castoff Bob Cerv, but they couldn't cash in. The Nats had the big one, a grand slammer by Harmon Killebrew.

Bigger Share Of Race Bets Eyed by State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The House Agriculture Committee has recommended, 18-1, passage of a bill to boost the "take out" on race track wagers and spread the money around—to county fairs, to track operators and to the state treasury.

The bill, by Rep. Fred Cassel (R-Wyandot) would "tap the kitty"—the fund from which race track bet winnings are paid—by 15 per cent.

Present "take out' from betting pools at running horse tracks is 13½ per cent. The bill would boost the "take out" at harness race tracks from 15 to 15½ per cent.

Practically everyone involved—except the bettor—would benefit. The bettor would lose because the "take out" increase would come from the fund which pays him off if he wins.

The bill increases the commission on wagers the harness tracks may keep by an estimated $157,000 a year. Running track operators would profit by an estimated $526,000 a year.

The state would get $369,000 a year in additional taxes.

Each county and independent fair would get $2,500 and each fair would get another $2,500 for race purse money and another $500 for maintaining their tracks. County fairs would get $2,000 more apiece for conducting stake races.

The Ohio State Fair would benefit to the extent of $60,000.

Williams, Shaffstall To Be Prexy Cage Captains

OWU Athletic Director Delivers Address at Annual Dinner

Vaughn Williams and Everett Shaffstall have been selected as co-captains of next year's basketball squad by their Harding High School teammates.

Announcement of their selection was made Tuesday night at the annual basketball banquet sponsored by the Harding Booster Club. The 1957-58 Prexy leaders were introduced by Jed Middleton and Phil Sykes, this year's co-captains.

Bob Strimer, head basketball and golf coach and athletic director at Ohio Wesleyan University was speaker for the banquet. The veteran Central District cage official praised the work of the Harding team and coaches and predicted a steady improvement of the basketball program under the guidance of Coach Jim Gibson and his aides Al Beach and Joe McDaniel.

THE OWU ATHLETIC boss listed aspiration, inspiration and perspiration as the three major requisites of athletic success.

"You must aspire to be great," Strimer insisted. "You've got to set your sights ahead and then move toward that goal," he told the Prexy cagers. Citing Glenn Cunningham and Bob Mathias, victims of an accident and an illness in their early youth, he urged his audience to "make up your mind to go someplace" in order to come out on top.

He termed the family circle as the best place for gaining the needed inspiration. He said the encouragement offered by the parents of high school athletes often is the greatest source of inspiration. "Somebody patting you on the back and offering encouragement always can be found at the dinner table," he said.

Perspiration, or the willingness to work and sacrifice, was labeled as probably the most important of the three by Strimer.

"You must give the work if you are to achieve success," he said. He quoted the views of Branch Rickey on the same subject. Rickey lists his three requisites as a consuming desire to be great, a feeling the project is worthwhile and a willingness to master the little skills and extras.

COACH GIBSON presented trophies for special performances during the season. Jed Middleton walked off with two of the five presented. The scrappy little senior standout was named as the teams top defensive star and the player with the most assists. Sykes won the trophy for the top foul shooting percentage while Shaffstall won the offensive trophy with a 56 per cent shooting average over the season. Sophomore Bob Middleton was winner of the rebounding trophy.

A fifth trophy, the scholarship award, will be presented at the conclusion of the school year.

Gibson termed his first season at the Harding helm a "very enjoyable experience" and praised the work of his two assistants and the athletic staff at the three junior high schools. "So many people helped to make the season a success," he said.

"We're toughening our schedule for next season," the Prexy coach reported and listed Mansfield, Shelby and Worthington as three new foes.

"We're losing some awfully good boys," Gibson reported "But," he added, "we feel we have a pretty good crew coming up." Jim Severs, 6-5 ace of the Kenton High School squad, was a guest at the banquet and was introduced by Gibson as "the best player we met this year."

Reserve Coach Al Beach, using nothing but sophomore cagers, said his charges had learned "some basketball" and were ready for future varsity action. Reserves introduced were Harl Evans, Larkin, Mike Chamberlain, Charles Campbell, Pete Sykes Ted Jolliff, Don Conkle, Jim Beverly, Jim Maugans, Don Jones and Phil Reid.

Mrs. Dean Ludwig presented awards to the Prexy cheerleaders. Three seniors received awards for three years of action. They included Donna Eller, Josetta Romeo and Judy Speck. Junior cheerleaders were Judy Jay and Judy Jones while sophomores were Linda McCurdy and Marty Bowden.

Darl Gatchell, Harding High School principal, and Ray Silver, assistant principal and dean of boys, praised the Harding cagers for their performance on the floor and in the classroom. Robert S. Brown, city school superintendent, also joined in the praise of the Prexies and their coaches.

Elmer Smith, Booster club president, served as master of ceremonies, and the invocation was given by J. H. Smith. Special music was presented by the Mellowettes, Harding High School girls' quartet.

Cincinnati Considered For NBA Club Location

CINCINNATI (AP)—Les and Jack Harrison, who seek to shift their pro basketball Rochester Royals team to Cincinnati, said "it looks very hopeful and we're getting along" after a conference here Tuesday.

The Harrison brothers conferred with officers of Cincinnati Garden, where any pro team would hold its games. Les Harrison said they are looking at other cities, and may reach a decision in "about a week."

Champions Clipped

Boston, Montreal Skaters Win Opening Cup Battles

By The Associated Press

The fact that two youngsters whose combined big league experience adds up to just one full season keyed the fired-up Boston Bruins to a 3-1 opening Stanley Cup victory over the champion Detroit Red Wings didn't surprise their coach at all.

"That's the kind of a team we have," said Milt Schmidt. "No stars, No big wheels Everyone carries about the same size load around here."

Jack Caffery, a 22-year-old forward, and nonchalant Don Simmons, a 25-year-old rookie goaltender called up from the minors in mid-season, shouldered an extra load at Detroit Tuesday night as the Bruins captured a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven series.

Goal Ties Score

It was Caffery's first period goal that pulled the Bruins even with the National Hockey League titlists, who had barged ahead in the first minute of play on a goal by veteran Ted Lindsay.

Because of Boston's rock-hard defense corps, Simmons was called on for just 20 saves, but several of those were spectacular.

Boston took the lead after 38 seconds of the second period. With Detroit's Ted Lindsay in the penalty box on a carry-over penalty for rough board checking, defenseman Doug Mohns sent a vicious 5-foot screen shot past Wing goalie Glenn Hall for the tie-breaker.

The Bruins got an insurance tally on a sustained charge as the third period got under way.

At New York's Madison Square Garden meanwhile, Montreal's Boom Boom Geoffrion, Rocket Richard, Jean Beliveau and Jacques Plante hogged the spotlight as the Canadiens launched defense of the Stanley Cup with an opening semifinal victory over the New York Rangers.

Score 3 in Finale

But it might have been different if Donnie Marshall, an obscure penalty killer, hadn't proved a key defensive maneuver.

The Canadiens scored three times in the final period to down the Rangers 4-1 before 15,019.

Here was the situation: Richard had deflected Geoffrion's 35-foot shot with his glove into the right corner of the cage to put Montreal ahead 2-1 at 7:02 of the last period. period.

The Canadiens' Tom Johnson then was sent off with a major penalty at 13:02. This gave the Rangers an extra man for five minutes.

They put on the pressure and apparently had the tieing goal as a rebound pulled goalie Plante out of position. Dean Prentice of New York picked up the disc and carefully let go a soft shot for the ungarded cage.

But along came Marshall from behind the net. The 25-year-old forward just got to the puck and prevented it from entering the goal

The Canadiens then wrapped up the game with a pair of goals within nine seconds in the final minute.

Kluszewski Idled In Redleg Action

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—The condition of Ted Kluszewski, muscleman of Cincinnati's Redlegs, became a puzzle Tuesday after he failed to make the lineup in an exhibition game with Detroit's Tigers.

Manager Birdie Tebbetts has let his slugger do his own conditioning this spring, because of a painful hip injury that hampered Klu last year.

The Redlegs outhit the Tigers, 13-11, but the Detroiters made good on their safeties and some Redleg bobbles for an 8-4 victory.

Pitching Staff, Defense Boost Orioles' Hopes

By JERRY LISKA

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz , (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles, who finished sixth in the American League last season, will bank on pitching and defense for a more impressive 1957 showing

Paul Richards' Orioles won 12 more games last year than in his inaugural Baltimore season of 1955 A similar improvement this year would bring the Orioles close to the first division which they missed by 15 games last season

Fifth of a Series

How much Baltimore can close the gap of 13 games by which they trailed fifth-place Detroit last year depends upon how much cutthroating is done among the contenders chasing the champion New York Yankees

Two Rookies Help

Richards believes his Orioles have some defensive stiffening in rew outfielder Al Pilarcik and a fine young third base prospect, Brooks Robinson, who turns 20 on May 18.

The lean pilot thinks rookies Charles Beamon and Bill O'Dell, $40,000 bonus grab from Clemson, will perk up a mound staff some observers deem patch-quilt

Asked to name his pitching "big four," Richards frankly said: "I don't have a big four, I have a big two — Ray Moore and Connie Johnson." Moore was 12-7 and Johnson 9-11 last season.

From among Beamon, O'Dell, Don Ferrarese, Hector Brown, Bill Wight, Mike Formeles and Erv Palica he hopes to pluck "spot starters" with Billy Foes and George Zuverink handling relief.

Robinson, a special protege of veteran third sacker George Kell, has been Baltimore s spring training star An excellent fielder, Robinson could be an Oriole starter if he continues his exhibition season hitting pace

In that event, Kell would alternate between third and first where Bob Boyd, a left-handed hitter, is running No 1

Miranda Sure of Job

The late-reporting Willie Miranda is a cinch at shortstop, backed by seasoned Jim Brideweser, while Willie Gardner is expected to improve at second base

Pilarcik, acquired after last season from the Kansas City Athletics, is a key man in Richards' outfield plans If he provides the defensive strength expected of him in right field, the Oriole outfield could be more than adequate Speedy centerfielder Dick Williams, who batted .286 last year, and left fielder Bob Nieman, Baltimore's big plate man with a 320 mark, can offset any hitting weakness by Pilarcik. Outfield backing could come from Tito Francona, Joe Durham, Carl Powis and Jim Pyburn

Richards regards big Gus Triandos, a 279 hitter with 88 RBI's last year, as good as any American League catcher except New York's Yogi Berra

"Our defense should compare with that of any club in the league," summarized Richards. "With a full season of good hitting by such men as Williams, Kell, Triandos and Nieman, plus capable pitching our improvement should be noticeable."

Bragan Hits Lack of Hustle In Minors' Home Run Ruler

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Dick Stuart, the kid who last year hit 66 home runs for Lincoln — and struck out 170 times — has Pittsburgh Manager Bobby Bragan talking to himself.

"He's absolutely the goshawfulest outfielder I've ever seen," sighed Bragan today.

"But on the other hand, we've had only 10 home runs this spring and he's hit five of them, so what are you going to do?"

Bragan shrugged.

"It's a funny thing," he said, "Stuart has a good arm. Strong. And his throws are accurate. But he just can't field. And he doesn't want to.

"He's got no desire. He just doesn't care. The other day we were playing the Phillies and he let a ball drop right at his feet. The crowd groaned. Everyone knew any other fielder could have caught the ball with his chin.

"He's a smart enough kid. Not a wise guy at all. He likes to hit. Loves to hit. But it's got to be a real good hit for him. In that same game with the Phils he was up with the bases loaded and two out and he hits one back to the pitcher. He might have beat it out, but he just trots down to first, holding his finger like he hurt it.

"I talked to him that night and I said, 'We just sent Johnny O'Brien back to Hollywood but he knows he gave it all he had and if he keeps it up he'll be back for another chance.

" 'You hit 66 home runs and you might be on your way to Hollywood tomorrow,' I told him.

" 'And if you are, it'll be because you let that ball fall at your feet and because you didn't run out that ball to the pitcher with the bases loaded.' "

License Tag Rush Due

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio drivers have been urged by George O. Braden, registrar of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, to buy their 1957 auto license now to avoid an expected last minute rush. With four days left to buy the tags, Braden said, only about half the state's 3½ million autos have 1957 plates.

LaRue Tourney Clashes To Begin

Four games are on tap Thursday night as Gold Medal Basketball tournament play gets under way at 6:30 in the LaRue High School gymnasium. Another four-game session is slated for Friday night, while the two semifinal games will be played March 31 and the consolation and championship games April 3.

In Thursday's tourney openers, Wyandot clashes with the Western AC at 6:30; Wurly tangles with England-Haircutters at 8 p.m.; Logan-Coffee meets Weaver-Neff at 9:30; and Byhalia takes the floor against Marion at 11 p.m.

Friday's games will feature Jones Poultry vs. the winner of the Byhalia-Marion game at 6:30 p.m.; Wilson against the Logan-Coffee, Weaver-Neff victor, 8 p.m.; Caledonia meeting the Wurly-England triumphant at 9:30; and Lincoln taking on the Wyandot-Western AC winner in the nightcap at 11. Trophies, medals and awards are up for grabs at tourney's end. All games will be comprised of eight-minute quarters. One three-minute overtime will be allowed, to be followed, if necessary, with a sudden-death extra period.

To Give Polio Shots

KENTON — Dr. H. R. Johanson, Hardin County Health commissioner and Miss Ruth Lunney, Kenton city health commissioner, announced today first shots of polio vaccine will be given in a clinic to be held at the courthouse Thursday. The shots are intended only for students of the county and city schools who have not been innoculated. They will have enough vaccine for approximately 900 shots.

White Sox Start Hunt For Bullpen Strength

TRAINING CAMP BRIEFS

TAMPA, Fla., (AP) — The Chicago White Sox are concerned about their relief pitching and are concentrating on landing some bullpen help.

"Right now we have only one fellow who appears to be ready to do a good relief job for us and that is Dixie Howell," said Manager Al Lopez.

Tom Flanigan, Don Rudolph and Joe Dahlke, all up from Memphis, were considered the top relief candidates among the newcomers but none has been impressive so far.

Kuenn Leads Explosion By Tigers, Clips Redlegs

LAKELAND, Fla., (AP) — A sudden appearance of power in the lineup has revived hopes that the Detroit Tigers may leave Florida with a winning exhibition game record.

The Tigers clobbered Cincinnati pitching for 11 hits in posting their sixth spring victory Tuesday, 8-4. The Tigers have lost 10 games.

Capt. Harvey Kuenn slammed a first inning home run off Russ Meyer, the former Brooklyn and Chicago Cub righthander Tuesday, and he followed up with a single and two doubles. In all, he drove in five runs.

Cubs Open Negotiations For Southpaw Pitcher

MESA, Ariz., (AP) — Trade winds are blowing in the Chicago Cub training camp and a deal with either the New York Giants or St. Louis Cardinals is reported a good possibility.

The Giants are after Cub catcher Ray Katt and seemingly are willing to part with a lefthanded pitcher. The Giants are loaded with southpaws while the Cub roster lists only one, Jackie Collom.

The Cardinals are after Cub pitcher Bob Rush but vice president John Holland said "We'd have to get an awful lot to give up Rush."

Williams Accepts New Role To Honor Yawkey

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Boston slugger Ted Williams, who prefers casual dress without a tie, plans to go "formal" to help honor his boss — Red Sox owner Tom Yawkey.

Williams agreed Tuesday to be toastmaster at the annual dinner of the Variety Club of New England April 14 when Yawkey will be presented the group's "Great Heart Award."

Williams has rejected most dinner invitations during his career with the Red Sox. He especially dislikes having to war a tie.

Duke Snider Unworried Over Troubles at Plate

LAKELAND, Fla., (AP) — Duke Snider, the Brooklyn Dodgers home run slugger, says he isn't worried about his lack of hits so far this spring.

Manager Walt Alston says the same thing.

But Alston apparently has decided not to use Snider against lefthanded pitchers.

Alston left him out of the lineup against the Philadelphia Phillies Tuesday. Yes, a lefty, Harvey Haddix, started for the Phils.

Logan Leads Milwaukee Hitters With .393 Mark

BRADENTON, Fla., (AP) — Johnny Logan, the Milwaukee Braves' most consistent hitter last September, is leading the team in spring training with a nifty .394 average.

Logan is tied with Henry Aaron for runs-driven-in honors. They each have 10. Aaron, who has missed several games, has a .345 average.

Bobby Thomson and Danny O'Connell, criticized for weak hitting last year, are .278 and .250 respectively.

Rookie Continues Bid To Replace George Kell

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz., (AP) — Nineteen - year - old Brooks Robinson, who only draws a rookie's salary, may push the Orioles' highest paid player, George Kell, off third base.

Robinson continued his sensational hitting Tuesday driving in four runs — one of them on a ninth-inning single to give the Orioles a 7-6 win over the Indians.

If Robinson continues hitting the way he has been, he'll probably open the season at third base for the Birds. If that happens Kell would probably move to first.

Besides the game - winning single, Robinson hit a bases-loaded double in the first inning and later drew a base on balls with the sacks full.

Colt League Managers Named by Commission

Colt League managers were named Tuesday night at a meeting of the Marion Baseball for Boys, Inc.

Handling the Colt League teams this summer will be the following men: Fraternal Order of Police, Frank Granland; Moulders, Nick Cafagno; Moose, Dominic Liberaton, and Elks, Ray Forbis.

Twenty-two commission members attended the meeting and a discussion was held on tryout dates. Those dates will be announced at a later date, a commission spokesman said today.

Next meeting of the group will be held April 9 at the YMCA and final plans for next summer's action will be made.

A plea for volunteer help in getting the new Little League diamond in playing condition also was issued. A Commission spokesman said any person willing to contribute a few hours to the program would be welcomed. The volunteers were asked to report to Lincoln Park Friday at 5:30 p.m.

"We don't need experts. Any one can do the work," the spokesman said. Work is to be performed on clearing the field of stones, building dugouts and putting up bleachers.

$50 Fine Suspended

J. C. Way, 24, of 876 E. Center St. was fined $50 and costs in Marion Municipal Court Tuesday on a charge of disorderly conduct. The fine was suspended on condition of his future good behavior. He paid the costs. He was arrested by city police.

Crawford Scouts Will Help Farmer Improve Woodlot

BUCYRUS — Final plans were completed here today for a Boy Scout Forestry Field Day to be held Saturday at the LaVern Eichhorn farm, southeast of Bucyrus in cooperation with the Divide Soil Conservation District, the Ohio Division of Forestry and the U.S. Soil Conservation Service.

The event will be the second held as a method by which scouts can assist SCD cooperators develop their woodland while individual scouts may complete requirements for earning merit badges in forestry, soil and water conservation and wildlife management.

Participating will be scouts and explorers from Troop 41 sponsored by the First Christian Church of Bucyrus and Troop 102 sponsored by the New Winchester United Brethren Church. Assisting will be Scout Leaders Joseph Cotner, Rudy Findling and Donald Young.

Seedling trees, including 500 white pines and 500 red pines, have been ordered by Mr. Eichhorn from the Ohio Division of Forestry as the second step in developing a 12-acre tract of timber on the farm.

Livestock was fenced from the woods and woodland improvement work undertaken in preliminary work.

Scout leaders, assisted by SCS Technician Robert Mills, will supervise the planting project, which is to be followed by a forestry tour of the tract.

Bees really discovered air conditioning. For millions of years they have been carrying water to hives where it is fanned by the wings of workers to cool honey in storage.

Non-Career Diplomats Fill Key Posts

Politics Issue in Ambassador Choice

(Editor's Note: It costs money to be a U. S. ambassador and as a result not many qualified make the grade. This country's ambassadorial system is explored in tis second of three articles on the department of state.)

By BEM PRICE
AP Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The ambassador is the key man in the implementation of United States policies overseas.

He is the President's personal representative in the country to which he is assigned and thus the kingpin of all American activities there.

During this year President Eisenhower will appoint about 3 new ambassadors. If the appointments run true to form, the so-called plus posts — London, Paris, Madrid, Rome, Bonn, Mexico City and New Delhi—will be filled by what the department calls "non-career diplomats."

Second of a Series

To be more exact these appointments will be political rewards and the jobs will be filled by men with substantial private means.

—:—

TRADITIONALLY one-third of the nation's ambassadorial posts are occupied by noncareer people.

The new ambassadors to Paris and London already have been named.

John Hay Whitney, an American grown aristocrat with a personal fortune estimated at between 60 and 80 million dollars, has gone to London. He is one of Eisenhower's golf and bridge cronies and he also helped raise funds for the 1956 campaign.

To Paris, the President appointed Amory Houghton, chairman of the board of the Corning Glass Works. Houghton was a heavy contributor to the Eisenhower campaign.

THIS IS NOT to say that the sole qualifications for noncareer diplomats are wealth and party allegiance. In these days intelligence is sought too.

This U. S. political system of picking ambassadors has turned up some really top flight men, one of whom was Whitney's grandfather, John Hay. By the same token it has produced some real duds.

Those who receive the plush jobs can expect to spend between $30,000 and $100,000 a year out of their own pockets for entertainment.

An ambassador also can be named from the ranks of the professional diplomats. The career man reaches the top after 20 or 30 years of service, during which he has been under annual examination as to his qualifications. Usually the professional is confined by lack of private means to the less expensive posts and thus the smaller nations.

PERIODICALLY, someone in Washington tries fruitlessly to change this system.

In this session of Congress, Montana's Sen. Mike Mansfield is saying that the U. S. government can afford nothing less than the best ambassadors available and that it should pay for what it gets.

Mansfield has drafted an amendment to the State Department's appropriation under which the government would increase ambassadorial living expenses to the point where any man, regardless of private finances, can fill the top posts.

How do we keep political appointees from fouling up the diplomatic works?

The answer lies in the structure of the department. The No. 2 man in every embassy is a career diplomat. He is the adviser and the technician.

Next: The Foreign Service Officer.

Tenderfoot Badge Awarded 8 Scouts

Eight members of Boy Scout Troop No. 25 received tenderfoot badges at investiture ceremonies held in St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church Monday night.

Frank A. Pryor, scoutmaster, who presented the badges, was assisted by members of the troop committee. Parents also were present to witness the advancement ceremony.

Awarded the tenderfoot insignia were Frank Dyer, Ronald England, Stephen Fretz, Robert Gebby Jr., Edward Henrich, Alan Kochheiser, William Little and Roger Shields.

Plans were made at the meeting to conduct a tree-planting project Saturday under the sponsorship of the Marion County Fish and Game Association as part of the troop's merit award program.

Robert Gebby announced the project and explained its importance to the troop.

Charles S. Postle, a member of the troop committee, urged the entire group to take part in St. Paul's annual Easter breakfast program. The boys will compete in the sale of tickets for this yearly event, being held Easter Sunday morning before the regular church service.

Members of the troop committee will meet tonight at 7:30 for a regular monthly meeting at the home of Frank Pryor.

Local Legion's Auxiliary Will Donate to Pool

A pledge of $25 was made to the proposed community swimming pool by members of the Women's Auxiliary to Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162, American Legion, in their meeting Monday night at the Dugout.

The auxiliary also voted contributions of five dollars each to Vernon elementary school and the Silver Street school library, and alloted $25 to aid a veterans family.

Mrs. Glen Moore, president, presided, and devotions were by Mrs. Hester Harraman, acting chaplain. Richelle Lurye, Harding High School pupil and Penny Powers, St. Mary High School pupil, will attend Girls State in Columbus, under the sponsorship of the auxiliary. Alternates are Janet Sue Hunter and Florence Compton, respectively.

It was announced the auxiliary will sponsor a program at the Ohio Soldiers and Sailors Orphans Home in Xenia on Easter Sunday.

Announcement also was made of the observance of Hospital Day, May 5, at Veterans Hospital in Chillicothe, sponsored by the state legion. Speaker will be Mrs. Carl Zeller, president of the National Auxiliary. Plans were made to attend the open house at the Soldiers and Sailors Home in Sandusky on May 5. Poppies, made by the veterans for the annual Poppy Day, will be on display. Announcement was made of the junior activities conference to be held at the Neil House in Columbus June 15.

The auxiliary will copperate with other auxiliaries in the state by contacting Ohio congressmen serving on the foreign affairs committee, requesting their cooperation in giving favorable consideration to a repeal of the Forces treaty. Congressmen to be contacted are John Vorys, Wayne Hays and Mrs. Frances Bolton.

It was announced that proceeds of the annual Poppy Day sale, heretofore used only for veterans' welfare, may now be contributed to the Red Cross, Christmas Health Seal campaign, Community Chest, March of Dimes, and other organizations and relief work.

Woman Arrested After Morrow County Mishap

A Columbus driver was arrested on a charge of failure to leave assured clear distance after her auto struck the back end of another vehicle on Route 42, one mile north of Mount Gilead at 4:15 p.m. Tuesday, Marion post patrolmen reported.

The mishap occurred when the auto driven by Harold R. Rogers, 46, of Mount Gilead, had stopped in preparation to making a left turn, patrolmen said. The vehicle driven by Doris S. Heath, 32, of Columbus, struck the stopped car in the back end.

Minor damage reportedly was done to both autos with no injuries sustained. The Heath driver will appear before Mayor Emery Murphy of Mount Gilead April 2.

Story of the Blood

"Hemo the Magnificent," the second of Frank Capra's educational TV programs on CBS, was a short course in the function of the heart, the blood, the circulatory system in not only the human animal, but of all animals. That's a larger order and I suppose found the show childishly elemental. But, for the rest of us ignoramuses, it was a fascinating study in the wonders of blood supply.

JOHN CROSBY

I expect Mr. Capra decided that anything so medicinal would drive the audience screaming into the arms of Kraft Theater, so he pulled out all the stops in order to hang on to the audience.

In the first place, there were cartoon animals — a deer, a rabbit, turtle, birds — which were mighty cute as cartoon animals, usually are, but whose main function was to ask the questions the rest of us had on the tip of our tongue, to get a little restive when the going got a little too hard (which was hardly ever), and to be properly amazed when amazement was indicated.

In short, they filled the function of a studio audience, acting as a kind of bell cow to the home audience.

DOES THIS INDICATE a certain amount of condescensions on Mr. Capra's part, this idea that we home folk can't absorb a full hour lecture on the blood stream without gimmicking it? Well, yes, it does. But then I rather think Mr. Capra is right, that it has to be done this way to wheedle us into sticking around.

Television itself has taught the crowd that if it hasn't got a gimmick, the heck with it.

Then you get to thinking how Life magazine, which, God knows, is a mass circulation magazine, has been running a series on the wonders of nature and the history of the earth and of mankind that has gone on for years without making any special inducements to popularization, and you begin to wonder.

There is a mass thirst for knowledge and culture in this country that is reflected in the national attendance at lectures. Just how to tap this audience on TV has been a problem no one has really solved yet, though Capra has done as well as anyone.

ANYHOW, BY THESE cunning devices, Mr. Capra managed to lure us into watching cartoons and movies showing the structure of the heart, the valve system that keeps blood flowing in the right direction, the network of veins and arteries and capillaries and what keeps them working, the intricate system of nerves that transmit requests from the various parts of the body and orders from the brain which keep the whole remarkable organism in operation.

Much of this was shown by very clever cartoons which diagrammed the working of the circulatory system simply enough for us lunkhead laymen to absorb, magnified films showing the actual workings of the vein and the heart. As in his first effort, "Our Mr. Sun," Capra has utilized the services of Dr. Research, played by Dr. Frank Baxter, who is normally found expounding on Shakespeare at the University of Southern California, and an actor —Richard Carlson, this time — both of whom were attractive, enthusiastic and very well informed.

THE WHOLE SHOW was on film in color. Sixteen-millimeter prints of this will be made and schools all over the country will show it to their pupils.

Capra's first TV show, "Our Mr. Sun," has been a smash in the schools and still is. Some 300 16-millimeter prints are booked up three months in advance constantly, and there's no reason why this show shouldn't be equally successful with the students.

The Capra organization would like to do about four of these educational television shows a year, but it may have to settle for just two this year. "Hemo the Magnificent" was a full year in the making.

Capra will turn his attention next to one of two other ideas he has lined up. One is "The Strange Case of the Cosmic Rays," and the other is "The Unchained Goddess," which is a story of the weather.

To me they both sound fascinating, but, if it came to my vote, I'd pick the second one. I don't think there's anything more interesting than the weather and why it is the way it is, and I hope Mr. Capra tells us all about it.

Youths Held in Holdup

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police spotted a car full of teenagers shortly after a dairy bar holdup early today and arrested four 17-year-old youths they said were armed with two revolvers.

Officers said the $72 loot from the dairy bar and the weapons, stolen in a recent burglary, were recovered in the youths' car.

Mine Toll Rises

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thirty-seven deaths in a West Virginia coal mine explosion last month lifted the number of February coal mine fatalities in the nation to 69, highest monthly toll since December, 1951, the Bureau of Mines reported Tuesday. January's toll was 39, the bureau said.

Accused of Kidnaping

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP)—A 34-year-old mental hospital escapee faces grand jury action next month on a charge of kidnaping a young Wheeling telephone operator. Carl Bassnett, Wheeling, is accused of kidnaping Judy Kinney, 21, who remained his prisoner for three hours before she talked him into freeing her.

Magistrate Carl A. Fisher bound Bassnett over for the May term of the Ohio County, W. Va., grand jury. Bassnett, who escaped from Weston State Hospital Feb. 7, was captured near Marietta, Ohio, March 14. He was extradited from Marietta Tuesday.

Theater Chain Fined

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — The Schine theater interests Tuesday were fined $73,000 in federal court on a charge they violated a 1949 court order requiring the defendents to dispose of 39 theaters in Ohio, New York, Kentucky and Maryland.

Stress of Modern Life Seen Factor Causing Sterility

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Stresses and tensions of modern life have made some men and women sterile Dr. Robert N. Creadick of Duke University said today.

Emotions and stress can affect body hormones and nerves with consequent effects on fertility, he told the American Academy of General Practice.

Study of psychological factors in sterility has been a major part of newest scientific efforts to help such couples, Dr. Creadick said.

Sterility is most times due to physical causes, some of which can be detected and corrected the physician said.

Emotional stresses apparently act through a vital brain center, the hypothalamus, he explained.

"Anyone who owns a herd of dairy cattle has long been aware of the effects of emotional upsets on milk production. The stresses of modern life have also taken their toll in human sterility, but there is no need for alarm in regard to our continued existence. Four million babies a year has become our national average, and the major needs from now on will be enough food and water."

Wasted Energy

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police arrested John R. Laymire, 55, Tuesday after he heaved a brick and a bottle through a service station window and told officers "he wanted to get arrested."

But it was wasted energy. Laymire could have achieved his wish just by walking to the nearest police station. Officers said he's been sought since 1951 as a parole violator in a burglary case.

PARIS AND SPRING—that's a combination that adds up to new fashions for women the world over. Our fashion fotogs looked in on a Paris show and came up with these favorites. Two-piece outfit (1) of linden-green silk crepe comes with straw hat while a neighboring dinner dress (2) of blue silk chiffon has skirt bloomers with hobble-band. (Are you still there, fellows?). Another striking outfit is that sari dress (3) of beige and black-checked silk crepe. Strawberry-pink organza highlights the evening dress (4) worn by the model in the center. It is worn with matching stole. Next in line comes a lovely formal evening gown (5) in white chiffon with black polka dots. An egg-shaped skirt and contrasting blouse (6) make a pleasing outfit for resort wear. The smock of a Montmartre painter inspired the final outfit (7) which is in gray alpaca, cut to a loose pullover tunic. It is worn over an intriguing pencil-thin skirt.

Russians Blast At Norwegians

New Pressure Being Put on Scandinavians

OSLO, Norway (AP)—The Soviet Union is widening and stepping up its word battle with its Scandinavian neighbors.

The latest blast was directed at Norway, a 3,500-word letter from Soviet Premier Bulganin warning the Norwegian government against allowing NATO to establish atomic bases in Norway. The letter spoke of fearful retaliation in the event of war.

Finland, Sweden and Denmark all have come in for Soviet attention recently. Norway and Denmark are members of NATO; Sweden and Finland are not. However, Norway and Denmark do not permit foreign troops to be stationed inside their borders.

In his letter to Norwegian Foreign Minister Einar Gerhardsen, Bulganin said Norway is chiefly valuable to NATO "because its territory borders the Soviet Union"—for 120 miles in the Far North.

Bulganin declared the Soviet Union wants peace but will take the "most energetic measure in order to inflict a destructive blow against aggressors and also against the bases which are located near our borders."

The Norwegian Foreign Office had no comment.

investigation of the theft of the money there, Springfield police had determined there was no forced entry to the office and that the safe had been opened by someone who apparently knew the combination, despite the fact the combination knob had been knocked off the door.

Lt. O'Brien said that they had found a key in Taylor's possession which fit the office door of the Springfield office. They surmised the thief also knew where the safe combination was kept and first opened the safe after which he knocked the combination knob off to make it look like the work of a professional safe cracker, Lt. O'Brien indicated.

TAYLOR WAS FIRST employed by Ohio Fuel Gas at its Springfield office in 1954. Last August he was transferred to Marion and promoted to office manager here.

He is married and has two small sons who lived with him and his wife in the well-furnished, neat and modest home on Cummins Ave. A church member, he never before has had any criminal record as far as Marion and Springfield police have been able to determine.

But, Capt. Campbell reported that the local police had found a tool box hidden in Taylor's home that was jam-packed with all types of burglary tools. He said they also found a large pair of bolt cutters which apparently were used in cutting open the money containers taken from the Springfield office safe.

Taylor himself is a neat appearing well-mannered young man who said he became aware he was being watched but didn't know by whom.

Marion police said today apparently he never had said anything to his wife about the hidden money

Ohioan Among 253 Stranded

Passengers Are Taken From Snowbound Train

KANSAS CITY (AP) — "Now I know how the eskimos live."

That is how Miss Norma Duff, 26, of Middletown, Ohio, one of 253 passengers, described two rugged days and nights aboard the Rock Island Railroad's Golden State Limited, buried in a snowdrift near Meade, Kan.

A rescue train picked up all the passengers Tuesday afternoon at Meade and stopped here for two hours late before continuing to Chicago.

Relate Experiences

Bedraggled but happy chair car passengers agreed with Miss Duff and added their descriptions of darkened coaches, some without water and all without heat in the raging blizzard that stalled the Los Angles to Chicago train Saturday night. It was late Monday before school buses had taken all the passenger, including 22 children, to Meade. Most of them took turns sleeping in the high school gymnasium.

Some 15 passengers were overcome by foul air Monday in car No. 48, buried and insulated by the snow.

Mrs. Irene McHugh of Los Angeles and her baby daughter, Adele, both were overcome.

Describes Plight

Miss Duff, helping Mrs. McHugh watch over the sleeping Adele, described their plight this way:

"I felt like I was in an igloo. We didn't have the kind of clothes for it, though. It was terribly cold and we had to open doors and kick out some windows to let fresh air in. The snow was clear up past the windows and almost over the top of the coach.

"We tore down the curtains from the windows to try to wrap our legs and keep warm. We didn't have anything to eat for one day and very little until the whirlybirds came over and dropped some food.

"I never was so glad to get out of anywhere as I was to get into that bus that took us in to Meade. Those people were wonderful. I didn't know coffee could taste so good."

Mrs. Hazel Hunter, 55, of Williamsburg, Ohio, said she and others were afraid to sleep at night for fear of "being gassed."

"Many of us prayed at night but there was no panic," she said.

Storm

New Mexico and the Oklahoma and Texas Panhandles — makes up a large part of the plains area hard hit by five years of drought.

But the blizzard's 70-and 80-mile winds scoured much of the crop and grazing land almost bare as they piled the snow up in high drifts.

Still Lacks Moisture

Crop experts in Kansas, Oklahoma, Nebraska and Texas said the snowfall brightened the drought picture but there was not near enough moisture to break it

Oklahoma reported heavy damage to peach, pear and plum trees which were in full bloom when the blizzard hit.

The weekend storm lost most of its power and size as it moved into the northeast section of the country. Precipitation extended from Lower Michigan through Ohio and eastward through Pennsylvania and Maryland.

Snow fell in northern areas of the wet belt from Michigan through the western half of Pennsylvania and rain and drizzle was reported in other sectors. Falls were light except in western Pennsylvania, which reported a 2-to-6-inch fresh blanket.

Probe

The hearing was suspended temporarily so that the committee members could go to the Senate floor to vote on legislation pending there.

During this recess, Beck was questioned by newsmen about the item for "five dozen diapers."

"My little niece," he said, "has five children and possibly that could be it. If so there was nothing wrong about it."

Beck said Shefferman had been a close friend of many labor leaders including the late William Green, president of the AFL for many years.

"He could buy at a discount," Beck said, "and that's why so many of us bought from him...

"The whole matter of Nathan Shefferman could be settled in a court of law in five minutes."

Authorization Issue

Beck said the only question would be whether Shefferman was authorized to make the purchases through the discount houses and whether there was an arrangement for repayment

Asked if everything was repaid, Beck declined to continue the discussion

In a stormy, full day's questioning Tuesday the paunchy and protesting union boss dodged answers to most questions from the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee.

He invoked the Fourth and Fifth amendments and much of the main body of the Constitution in contending both that the committee had no authority to put the questions and that he was not required to testify against himself.

'On Advice of Counsel'

He said this was on advice of his absent chief counsel, ex-Sen. James Duff (R-Pa).

Beck refused to talk about his alleged use of more than $320,000 of union funds for his own purposes, including paying bills for $14 neckties, shoes, shirts and a private gardner.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) and other senators said they wanted to question Beck further on his connections with bespectacled, graying Nathan Shefferman, a Chicago labor relations consultant to business firms, including a 13-year stint with Sears, Roebuck & Co.

Robert Kennedy, committee counsel, said about $85,000 in Teamsters West Coast union dues money was "siphoned" from the union via Shefferman to Beck, Beck's son, and a relative of Beck's wife, Norman Gessert

Marion Area Auto Mishaps

One person was injured in one of five traffic accidents investigated Tuesday by Marion police. No accidents in Marion County were reported by local state patrolmen.

He was Kenneth Richardson, 54, of Richwood He was driving south on S Prospect St at 8:46 p.m. and crashed into a utility pole just south of the city schools' administration building. He told police that he blacked out as he was driving along the street Police said the car was demolished and Mr. Richardson suffered injuries to his mouth and chest and was taken to Marion General Hospital for treatment. His condition today was reported to be "fairly good."

A car parked in the 200 block on Pearl St. and owned by A J. Richer of 133 Johnson St. was struck by a truck driven by L. M. Edwards, 47, of Centerburg, O., at 1:32 p.m. Tuesday.

Each of the other three accidents in the city caused less than $100 total damage, police estimated.

Orth

was, in essence, also technically absolved of participation in the robbery

Orth had been charged with the murder of John R. Mooney, 22, of Lima, a patron in the cafe the night of the robbery. His two alleged confederates, Duane Packer and William Swearingen, both of Marion, turned state's evidence in the trial and fixed Orth at the scene. Orth was acquitted of the charge July 19, 1956. Packer and Swearingen are both in the penitentiary, Swearingen on a 10 to 25 year sentence for his part in the cafe robbery, and Packer on a life term for a subsequent kidnaping and attempted robbery of the National City Bank in Marion

Prior to the sentencing of Orth Tuesday morning, a motion by Attorney Blair that the case be dismissed on grounds of insufficient evidence was denied by Judge Jenkins The motion for the appeal was expected to be filed sometime today

Orth probably will be held in the Allen County jail pending a disposition of any new appeal motion.

Skips Class Hard Way

NEW YORK (AP) — Thomas Callow, 15, plays hookey the hard way.

The Brooklyn boy didn't have to go to school Tuesday. He was in a hospital with a bullet wound in the arm

Police said his pal, John Acuri, also 15, told them he shot Callow at Callow's suggestion so Callow would have an excuse to stay away from school

Both boys were charged with juvenile delinquency.

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Mrs. Edna Henderson 78, mother of Rep. John E Henderson (R-Ohio), who died in Guernsey County Memorial Hospital here Tuesday of a heart attack.

The House Industry and Labor Committee appeared ready to send to a subcommittee a bill which would authorize Supplemental Unemployment Compensation (SUB) payments in Ohio. The action probably will be taken tonight. The committee heard eight witnesses oppose the bill Tuesday.

The Senate Code Revision Committee recommended passage of a bill to transfer the State Bureau of Criminal Investigation and Identification to the attorney general's office.

The Senate Highways Committee recommended passage of a bill authorizing the state highway director or local authorities to set a minimum speed of 30 m.p.h. on limited - access superhighways if their studies show slow drivers "impede the normal and reasonable flow of traffic."

Sen. William H. Deddens, Cincinnati Republican, was a central figure in both of Tuesday's big debates in the Senate. He won one and lost one.

Backs License Bill

He was successful in pushing through, 26-6, a House-approved bill to cut license fees on public transit buses owned by private firms from a top of $360 to a flat $10 The latter fee is paid by owners of private passenger autos

Senate Minority Leader Joseph W. Barlunek (D-Cuyahoga), tried, but failed, to amend the bill to set the bus license fees at $150 a year

Deddens declared the easing of the tax burden on transit companies would at least delay the necessity for public ownership and operation of mass transit systems. Private transit firms now are in dire financial shape, he told the Senate.

Deddens lost a one-man fight to defeat a bill to authorize construction of a dam and 2,900-acre lake near Cambridge — an estimated three million dollar project proposed by Sen. David McK. Ferguson (R-Cambridge)

Ferguson told the Senate the proposed lake would furnish 35 to 40 million gallons of water a day and that there is "a great industry" waiting for the water He did not identify the industry which is considering a move to Cambridge

At the showdown, Deddens carried only three other senators with him as the Senate passed the bill, 26-4, and sent it to the House.

"Marion needs this assistance very badly and we are in the hopes that, inasmuch as federal and state highways are both involved, we will receive, as other towns of this size have received, this service to a fast-growing community," Mr. Sears wrote.

He is a member of the Republican State Central Committee and is chairman of the Wyandot County Republican Central Committee He has a farm at Harpster and is vice president of the Harpster Bank.

Employment Chief Scherff To Retire

Mrs. Mills Will Assume Post as Acting Head Of Local Office

(Reprinted from yesterday's late Edition)

Forthcoming retirement of Fred B. Scherff of 348 Hane Ave. after nearly 40 years as an employment service manager, 30 of them with Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, was announced Tuesday by James R. Tichenor, administrator of the state bureau.

Pending the effective date of Mr. Scherff's retirement on July 1, Mrs. Mary K. Mills of 375 Hane Ave. will be acting manager and will become manager on July 1, Mr. Tichenor said.

MR. SCHERFF'S long career in the local employment service began in May, 1918, when he was named superintendent of the first state-city employment office in Marion.

Affiliated with the United States employment service, the office here and in other Ohio cities served during World War I in the recruitment of employes for various federal projects. Mr. Scherff recalls that it sometimes was necessary to go into local plants and obtain various employes when an order came from the government.

He pointed out that Ohio was the first state to set up such a service. The first office was opened in Toledo in 1890, Mr. Scherff said

Now 72, but feeling "like 32," Mr. Scherff plans to devote his time to his real estate business. He pointed out that he first became a licensed real estate broker in 1915 before joining the state employment service and has maintained his license since then. "I don't intend to sit around doing nothing just because I've retired from state service," he said.

—:—

A NATIVE OF Marion, Mr. Scherff was graduated from the old Marion High School in 1904 and shortly thereafter went to work in the city engineering department where he remained about one year. He next was employed by the Marion Steam Shovel Co. until 1903 and then was with the former Big Four railroad until 1912. From then until 1918 he was associated with his father in a grocery store business on Columbia St. His father, Louis Scherff, served as mayor of Marion from 1906 to 1910.

FRED B. SCHERFF
Manager for 40 Years

MRS. MARY K. MILLS
Appointed Acting Manager

The first state-city employment service office was short - lived in Marion. In October, 1919, at the close of the war, it and all other similar offices in the state, except seven in the larger cities, were closed.

But, despite the closing of the state office, free employment service in Marion continued under the direction of Mr. Scherff. On the same day the state-city office was closed, he was named executive secretary and employment counselor for the Marion Manufacturers' Association and retained this position for 10 years. From 1921-1923 he served also as secretary of the Ohio Manufacturers' Association of Central Ohio, covering 14 counties.

In May, 1929, the state office again was opened in Marion and Mr. Scherff was appointed manager retaining the position until the present time.

IN AUGUST, 1922, he and three other local men organized and incorporated the Crystal Lake Park Co. The other incorporators were Fred Guthery, Millard Hunt and William Holverstott.

They purchased the 52-acre tract of land just north of Marion and from 1922 to 1925 operated a swimming pool. In 1925, the company expended $325,000 to set up an amusement park, including the building of a dance hall and other amusement facilities.

The amusement section of the park closed down in 1929 but the dance hall continued to operate and is still standing. The amusement facilities were disposed of and in 1948 the balance of the property, the swimming pool and the dance hall, were sold to out-of-town interests.

Office records show that the Marion office placed a total of 6,917 persons in various jobs including farm labor in its three-county area during 1956, he said. The local office serves Marion, Morrow and Crawford counties

Mr. Scherff was married 49 years ago on March 19 to the former Miss Vada Fields, a native of Union County. They have no children.

Mrs. Mills, who will become manager of the local office on July 1, first joined the state service on Dec. 21, 1938.

Starting as a clerk she soon was promoted to interviewer and beginning in 1942 served also as labor market analyst and secretary to Mr. Scherff.

She also is a native of Marion County and is the daughter of Mrs. C. M. Alheit and the late Mr. Alheit. She is married to Ralph E. Mills, also a native of Marion. They have no children.

from Kirk Douglas and the late James Dean. "Giant" was Dean's last picture and, of course, the last chance for the Academy to honor the brilliant young actor. Others are Rock Hudson and Sir Laurence Olivier.

"Around the World" is Mike Todd's first movie production and there conceivably could be some opposition from jealous producers who have yet to smell a nomination after years and years.

But most in the industry feel that Todd, a supershowman, has given Hollywood a much-needed hypo. "Giant," a superb job by Stevens, is edging Todd at the wire — so much so that the two may knock each other out. If that happens, watch for "The King and I" to take it. The others are the big spectacle "The Ten Commandments" and "Friendly Persuasion."

Stack's main threats are Mickey Rooney and the ever-present Tony Quinn, Tony Perkins and Don Murray will bear watching but not this year.

Miss Malone finds herself in a nominee's dream — her four competitors all are from one studio and sure to split the Warners' vote. The four are Eileen Heckart and Patty McCormack of "The Bad Seed," Mercedes McCambridge of "Giant," and Mildred Dunnock of "Baby Doll."

Jerry Lewis will emcee the nationwide telecast and international radio broadcast of the show over NBC beginning at 8:30 p.m., EST.

country will help out in ways it can.

Russia — Threats by the Soviet Union against Norway, Eisenhower said, are completely indefensible He was referring to Russia's warning to Norway against allowing the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to set up atomic bases on Norwegian soil A new Russian note suggested fearful blows against Norway in event of war.

Norway, Eisenhower said, has a right to take any proper step in her own defense.

Fifth Amendment

Fifth Amendment — With the Dave Beck case in the headlines, Eisenhower said there is no doubt that in some instances the Fifth Amendment is an absolute safeguard to the rights of Americans or it wouldn't have been written into the Constitution.

Eisenhower went on to say, however, that he does share the common belief that a man who invokes the Fifth Amendment does so because he has something he does not want to tell.

pect that Egypt ultimately will accept some kind of canal users' group to discuss toll rates, canal improvements and similar problems, but the present plan was reported to have left that point unanswered.

Reports from Tucker's Town, Bermuda, where Canadian officials have been getting a rundown on last week's talks between President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Macmillan, said it appeared the United States and Britain were resigned to modifying their demands for international control of the canal.

But in London, a British Foreign Office spokesman said today "there is no truth whatever" to the reports Britain is resigned to seeing Egypt run the Suez Canal and collect all dues from ships using it

"We still feel the principles adopted by the United Nations last fall should be the basis for any settlement of the canal problem," the spokesman said.

The tug Edgar Bonnet, last barrier in the Suez Canal to passage of ships of up to 20,000 tons, was lifted from the channel bottom this week and was to be towed out of the way today. Its removal will leave only an official Egyptian okay necessary for resumption of three fourths or more of normal canal traffic.

Lillian Roth

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK — At 46 Lillian Roth, who made one of the greatest comebacks in the history of show business, is saying good-bye to the night club world.

HAL BOYLE

But Lillian isn't quitting so she can retire to a rocking chair. She simply wants to branch out into two new careers—as a lecturer and newspaper columnist.

The dark-eyed movie and musical comedy star, who became a top entertainer again after a losing 16-year bout with the bottle, said a three-week engagement next month at the Sahara in Las Vegas would be her last in the night club field.

"I'M GRATEFUL TO the night clubs," she said. "They've been wonderful to me. They've paid me up to $10,000 a week, more than I earned in the old days.

"But it is no way to live permanently. I've been singing since I was 15, and since 1951 I've sung more than 50,000 songs.

"I'm 46 now, feel better than I did at 36, but if—God willing—I have a few years left, I'd like to spend them living another kind of life."

It doesn't promise to be any more restful, but Lillian says she isn't looking for a rest.

"I have a lot to do and learn," she said. "After all, I wasted 16 years before I found God was the crutch that alcohol wasn't."

HER PLANS for the future make Miss Roth sound like a one-woman empire. She is completing another book, "Beyond My Worth," a sequel to her best-selling "I'll Cry Tomorrow."

She also has signed to write a syndicated column three times a week in which she will answer the problems of readers. She is nearly set for 10 weeks of summer stock in the stage version of "Mildred Pierce." And in the fall she starts a nationwide lecture tour.

The lectures will be on the inspirational side, based on Miss Roth's philosophy that "sorrow is the common denominator that brings all people together There is no one who hasn't known sorrow, and no one who can't smile later."

LILLIAN KNOWS the road back by the feel of all the rocks along the way. She took her last drink of booze on June 28, 1946, but it wasn't until 1951 that she could really face an audience again.

"The longest step in a comeback is the first one you take back up the ladder," she said. "Something seems missing in you at the start

"It took me five long years to regain the talent God had given me, and to re-establish myself in my own eyes as a human being again."

Boston Hospital's Mystery Patient Finally Identified

BOSTON (AP) — Mrs. Frances Hamilton Kleimann of Long Beach, Calif., said the Brighton Marine Hospital patient who has been unidentified for 12 years is her brother.

Lacking any other identification, the hospital has carried him on their rolls since 1945 as "Charles W Jamieson — unverified."

Mrs. Kleimann visited the man Tuesday and identified him as her brother, James William Hamilton, whom she had not seen in 36 years.

The patient, sometimes referred to by hospital attaches as "Mr. X," was admitted to the hospital Feb. 19, 1945. He was so weak he could not speak and had no memory of himself or other matters.

He suffered from an advanced case of poleomylitis and was near death. When he began to recover, agencies in the United States, Canada and England began trying to identify him.

Mrs. Kleimann said her brother was a native of Windelstone, England.

East-West Romance

Olympic Winners Are Wed in Czechoslovakia

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP)—Olympic champions Harold Connolly and Olga Fikotova, betrothed in an East-West romance that now threatens religious complications, were married in this capital of Communist Czechoslovakia today.

The handsome Boston hammer-throw king, 26, and his radiant Czechoslovak bride, 24-year-old women's discus queen, disregarded a caution from a Roman Catholic priest and said their vows in successive civil, Roman Catholic and Protestant ceremonies.

Connolly is a Catholic, Olga a Protestant.

The Rev. George Reinsberg, who obtained a special dispensation to officiate at the ceremony at a 13th Century Roman Catholic church, said Connolly would no doubt be excommunicated for going through the Protestant wedding that followed in the Salvator United Lutheran and Reformed Church.

"Mr. Connolly will be excommunicated of course," Father Reinsberg said in an interview. "He will not be expelled from the church, but he will lose the rights to the Holy Sacraments. He knew that in advance. If he had not known it, he probably would not be excommunicated. But still, if he shows real repentence, he will eventually be restored to full church membership."

The medieval town hall was the setting for the civil ceremony that united the young athletes, stars of the Olympic games at Melbourne last fall. More than 1,000 persons attended.

Olga, a medical student, has applied for a visa to enter the United States The American consulate said that since the visa would not clear in time for the honeymoon, the couple probably would to to Vienna shortly after the wedding

They plan to remain in Europe for several weeks while Connolly gives exhibitions, then go to Boston to live. But the newspaper Vercerni Praha reported the bride had promised any sports records she might set in the future would be registered for Czechoslovakia. The paper said she also wants to wear the Czech red, white and blue at future international meets.

Testifies in Murder Case

Medical Witness Raps Doctor in London Trial

LONDON (AP) — A specialist testified today narcotics prescribed by Dr. John Bodkin Adams for a rich patient would have made her a drug addict completely dependent on him.

Dr. Arthur Henry Douthwaite appeared as a prosecution medical witness in the trial of the 58-year-old Adams, who is charged with murdering Mrs. Edith Alice Morrell to gain an inheritance.

The tall grey-haired specialist said there was "no justification" for the injections of morphia and heroin that Adams prescribed for the 81-year-old woman.

The prosecution has accused the Irish-born bachelor doctor of systematically drugging her to death She died in November 1950, and her body was cremated.

Atty. Gen. Sir Reginald Manningham-Buller asked Dr. Doughwaite "in your opinion was Mrs. Morrell by the 20th, June 1949 an addicted patient?"

"Yes, fully," replied the specialist.

Manningham-Buller also asked if there was justification for injection of the drugs "immediately after a stroke caused by cerebral thrombosis?"

"No," replied Douthwaite, "there is no justification."

Nurses' records introduced by the defense as evidence showed Adams had administered a mixture of morphia and heroin. The defense contends the drugs were to quiet the patient and enable her to sleep.

Adams had certified that Mrs. Morrell died of cerebral thrombosis after suffering a stroke several months before.

New Ruler Reigns Over Zoo Animals

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — A new king reigns in the spider monkey colony of the San Francisco Zoological Gardens today.

How long this simian monarch rules is problematical, according to Carey Baldwin, director of the zoo which is a prime attraction to thousands of visitors each year.

Buck, the former king of a tribe of 60 spider monkeys, was found bitten to death. His predecessor was held under water by his subjects until he drowned.

"Sometimes the head monkey of the colony is deposed of by a lone challenger," Baldwin explained. "At other times, the king is victim of a gang attack."

When the king monkey goes, his going is final The new king, Baldwin said, doesn't want any live exkings around to foment trouble

GALION—James Bragg of Mansfield, an employe of the Perfection Steel Body Corp. here, had a piece of slag embedded in his left eye while at work Tuesday night. Total financial loss on the Olympic Games in Australia in 1956 was $1,350,000.

Specialization Seems Certain For Farmers

Days of Diversity Are Considered Obsolete According to Figures

Specialization is the byword of today's farmers. And, the word from competent authorities is to "comply or die." It's as simple, they say, as that.

Farm experts are pointing to a raft of statistics that apparently back up their claims that the day is long since past when the farmer can be both "jack and master" of all trades. Notes the National Live Stock Producer: "The old cow-sow-hen operation is a thing of the past. The trend is toward keeping enough animals for an efficient and productive unit, or none at all."

This assertion, you may say, is a bit rash. But notice some interesting figures. In 1920, for example, 4,851,000 farms in the nation reported hogs. By 1940, however, the number was down to 3,767,000, and by 1954 only 2,365,000 farms were said to be raising hogs. In short, over a 34-year period, swine reduction amounted to 51 per cent.

How about cattle? Well, there are more cattle but fewer farmers raising them. In fact, the 5,358,000 cattle farms reported in 1920 were down 32 per cent, to 3,651,000 in 1954. Sheep farms declined from 539,000 in 1920 to 361,000 in 1954, reports indicate.

Reasons Apparent

Why these trends and what, if anything, do they mean? All considered, mechanization, increased efficiency and specialized skills seem to be accounting for most of these figures.

Today's demands on time, labor and effort simply do not allow for a cosmopolitan farm enterprise. In a time when 35 per cent fewer farm workers are producing 60 per cent more farm products than was possible 30 years ago, the farmer is being forced to get into one or two enterprises and stick with them. Moreover, farm production methods have become complex, so much so that farmers with skilled labor and knowledge required for specialized operations are the ones who are really making the money. It simply follows that this specialization calls for bigger, more mechanized units in order to keep costs low.

Suggests the Live Stock Producer: "It's the old story recognized by farmers everywhere — net income is obtained by multiplying production times price per unit minus expense."

Increase or Quit

Statistics show that for the decade, 1940-1950, on million farms with less than 10 cattle and calves per farm passed from the scene. What happened to them? They either added more cattle and moved into the big business phase or dropped cattle from their inventories entirely. The same was true with hog men.

The startling fact is, however, that fewer farms have been producing more livestock. Cattle numbers advanced from an average 12 head per farm in 1920 to 26 head by 1954. Hogs were up from 12 to 24 head for the same period.

In a word, today's farmer apparently has one choice — get into specialization or quit farming. Figures, in this case, give a relatively true picture of the future of agriculture. Yesterday's man of the soil was one who had pigs, chickens, cattle, cows and crops; tomorrow's agriculturist will be a specialized cattle feeder, swine raiser or poultryman. In any case, the handwriting appears to be already on the wall. The farmer will read it for what it's worth.

Marion Conservation Board Plans Big Program

Supervisors Will Have Aid From Soil Office, Extension Service

With the advent of good weather, the work schedule of the Marion Soil Conservation District will shift into high gear. For this year's itinerary, according to W. L. Williams, head of the local soils office, insures that the Marion district will enjoy one of its busiest years.

As things stand now, a total of 24 basic conservation plans are in the hopper for work this summer. A basic plan includes an entire conservation program for any given farm, from recommendations as to fertilizer needs, to the actual work of making waterways, laying tile, setting up a rotation program, and supervising soil testing and cropping results.

FOUR REVISED plans also are to be handled through the local soils office, where Mr. Williams is aided by Oscar Retterer and the members of the SCD's board of supervisors, a group composed of Harold Isler, Kensel Clutter, Calvin W. Baldinger, Vernon Beaver and Leroy Hinamon In addition, the district will have cooperation from the county extension service, Ellwood Parrott in charge.

This summer's schedule calls for contouring 80 acres of county farm land, involving work on five different farms. Approximately one-half mile of diversion ditch will be dug, and 13,400 rods of tile will be laid. Mr. Williams notes that half this amount is already in the ground.

A total of 10 farm ponds are slated to be dug, and 10,000 lineal feet of farm fence is to be reorganized. In addition, 600 acres will be mapped on the anticipated 32 new cooperator's farms.

Besides this work, which is figured to account for no less than 633 man-days, several other events are scheduled for the soils men. The annual land judging contest for FFA and 4-H members is to be held April 12, with the county's vocational - agriculture teachers cooperating. A building and forestry tour is planned for the third week in November, an event designed to show what can be done with native timber.

THE ANNUAL 4-H conservation school will be held July 15-20 near Newark, O., during which a local 4-H member will have a first-hand opportunity to see some of the results of good conservation practices. The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. contest is to be held in April to find the county's farmer who has done the most as a conservation - minded operator. P. D. Hite of near Grand Prairie, won the event in 1956. Finally, the annual rural-urban day is planned for sometime in the fall.

Wool, Lamb Marketing Deadline Is March 31

March 31 is the last day farmers can market wool and lambs and still be eligible for payments under the 1956 wool payments program, notes Frank Montgomery, local ASC office head.

"Completion of marketing" means that the title of wool or lambs must have passed from the seller to the buyer in actuality, Mr. Montgomery cautions, and adds: "If there is any detail of the sale, such as weighing or results of core testing for shrinkage, which is not settled until after March 31, the sale will not be considered a transaction during the 1956 marketing year." The marketing year, as such, runs from April to April.

Payments under the 1956 program will be made this summer, possible not before the end of July. Farmers have 30 days after the March 31 deadline to file applications for payments, Mr. Montgomery points out.

Farmers Warned About Home Oats

This could well be the year when an "ounce of prevention" in the oatsfield could be worth the proverbial "pound of cure."

Ellwood Parrott, Marion County extension director, reports that many farmers are finding their oats do not test high enough in germination to justify planting.

Harold Dildine, manager of the Green Camp Elevator, reports that oats testing less than 80 per cent should not be seeded. "The most desirable test for oats to be planted is 85 per cent and above," he points out. Mr. Dildine explains that the reason for so many low testing seed this year is the fact that incessant rain last summer caused many a crop to be combined while down and still damp. The oats, when binned, went into a sweat, and the germ was subsequently killed by the high temperature.

"Oat germs will die in temperatures of 95 degrees and above," he adds, and concludes that some oats in the county have been testing as low as 50 per cent.

What can farmers to do help insure good crops? The best bet is to purchase certified oat seed, which is guaranteed to be ready in every way, shape and form for seeding. Home-grown oats this year may be a risky choice.

Compliance With Crop Agreement Is Essential

Final figures on wheat and corn acreage in Marion county under the acreage reserve program, show that a total of 87 applications for wheat were made, Frank Montgomery, head of the ASC office here, reports. Those agreements are worth $40,258, he notes, and include 1,281 acres.

Some 121 agreements were signed for the corn program representing 3,628 acres and a monetary value of $159,405. The deadline for wheat agreements was September of 1956, but farmers could withdraw from those contracts whenn making corn agreements. The deadline on corn was March 8.

Mr. Montgomery cautions farmers that compliance with their program agreements is essential. "A farmer who wants to earn payments under the wheat acreage reserve program must also comply with the corn allotment for his farm if there is one," the ASC head explains. Willfully disregarding the stipulations of the agreements can result in a penalty amounting to 50 per cent of the payment that would have been made for compliance, Mr. Montgomery concludes.

Economist Has Word on Farm Contract Plan

How will conservation reserve payments be divided between landlords and tenants? Answers Wallace Barr, Ohio State University extension economist: "The share that landlords and tenants will receive shall be on a fair and equitable basis and must be approved by the county ASC committee."

Mr. Barr points out that tenants and landlords must agree on specific provisions before a contract is valid. For example: no contract can be considered valid if 1) it appears that the operator or landlord has reduced the number of acres of a tenant, 2) the operator or landlord has reduced the number of tenants on the farm, 3) the operator or landlord has increased his share of the crop and reduced the tenant's share, or 4) there exists any agreement between landlord and tenant causing the tenant to pay over to the landlord any compensation, change the status with respect to land, reduce the size of the tenant's share of the allotment or increase rent paid by the tenant.

A contract may be modified any time prior to Jan. 1, 1961 in order to put additional land in conservation reserve, the economist points out. This time period for this new land is independent of any existing contract, he adds. Says Mr. Barr: "Your soil bank base will remain the same, but your permitted acreage may change."

What happens if any farmer violates his contract? It is possible, under the law, to have any contract terminated, if the violation is considered serious enough. In the event of such a happenstance. Mr. Barr emphasizes, the farmer forfeits all payments and must refund those already received, plus interest at six per cent and a civil penalty of 50 per cent of the payments.

Prospect FFA Feted

The annual parents-son banquet of the Prospect FFA Chapter was held Friday in the Prospect School auditorium, with 110 persons present. "Star farmer" awards were given to Tom Anson, Tom Lauer, Harold Isler and Don Isler. Service bars were given Howard, Harold and Gene Isler and Darrell Gerfen. Officers of the organization for 1957 are as follows: Tom Anson, president; Gene Isler, vice president, Howard Isler, secretary; Harold Isler, treasurer; Dick Fryman, reporter; and Dick Dutton, sentinel.

Market Men Note Cheese Varieties

There are, according to marketing specialists at Ohio State University, over 400 varities of cheese sold in the country, enough, they assert, to more than satisfy everyone's individual taste.

These cheeses are classified as either very hard, hard, semi-soft or soft. Very hard cheeses, notes the specialists, are used primarily for grating and flavoring; hard kinds are for all-purpose table use, sandwiches and cooking; semi-soft varieties are incorporated in salads, sandwiches and desserts; while soft cheeses are most usually reserved for salads or desserts.

Of the 400-odd varieties, only relatively few are familiar to the daily shopper. The following are the most common types of cheese, listed according to their classification: very hard, Parmesan, Romano and Sapsago; hard, Cheddar (or American), Swiss, Provolone and Edam, semi-soft, brick, Limburger, Roquefort and Bleu; and soft, cottage, and cream.

Observes the marketing service: this classification is far from complete, but it's a good start for the average consumer.

Audie Murphy, the most decorated American hero of World War II is also a member of the Texas National Guard.

Corn Seedbed Is Still Preferable

You can plant corn in your tractor wheel tracks if you want to, but J. L. Haynes, agronomist at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station in Wooster, doesn't recommend the practice.

Says Mr. Haynes: "Planting corn without first fitting the land may have some merit, but it is not a practice which Ohio agronomists are ready to recommend." The experimentalist points out while such practices may have some advantages as erosion control measures and though yields have sometimes been higher, the big problem has been stands.

"With the methods we use now," he warns, "getting a good stand is a definite risk with truck planting." Suggests Mr. Haynes, in conclusion: "Prepare a seedbed as usual and be safe rather than sorry."

Marion County Achievement Day Scheduled

April 4 in Prospect's Lutheran Church is the time and place for the annual Marion County Achievement Day, according to Miss Gussie Smith, county home economist. The theme for this year's program will be "Success Is First a Dream."

The morning program will be in charge of Mrs. George Lust, vice president of the Home Council. Guests will register at 10 a.m. as Mrs. Fred Leffler of the Pleasant Home Demonstration Club favors with an organ recital.

Mrs. Lust will welcome those present, after which Mrs. Paul Dobberstein will lead devotions. Colored slide pictures will be shown and a chorus composed of homemaker members directed by Mrs. Leroy Shroats will perform. Mrs. Kenneth Pangborn will accompany the group.

Mrs. Arthur Knickel will be in charge of the afternoon session, scheduled to begin immediately after the luncheon at 12 noon. Miss Smith will discuss coming events with regard to the Home Council, after which Chester Swank, Ohio State University extension specialist in consumer food marketing, will present pertinent consumer information.

The committees in charge of the achievement day festivities are as follows: Program, Mrs. Arthur Knickel and Mrs. George Lust; registration and name cards, Mrs. Fred Leffler, Mrs. Knickel and Mrs. Perry Seiter; publicity, Mrs. A. B. Messenger, Mrs Jacob Retterer and Mrs. Paul Lauer; tour, Mrs. Cletus Uhl, Mrs. John Street, Mrs. Harry Snyder and Mrs. Knickel; and table favors, Mrs. Donald Johnson, Mrs. Seiter and Mrs. Jack Shuer.

The following clubs will be in charge of the several progress exhibits: wall plaques, Grand Prairie; rug cleaning, Richland; glove, Prospect; Easter decorations, Claridon; cake decorations, Big Island; salads, Pleasant; meat cookery, LaRue; copper planters, Waldo; lamp shades, Big Island.

Farm Econogram

Report on Prices and Economic Trends Prepared by Agricultural Extension Service

Burley tobacco acreage reserve rules changed. The maximum acreage, permitted in the Soil Bank acreage program now is the farm allotment Previously, the maximum participation was one acre or 30 per cent of the allotment, whichever was larger.

Corn acreage reserve sign up as of Friday, Februrary 15, from 51 out of 71 commercial corn counties showed 2,571 agreements covering 30,576 acres. The 30,576 acres placed in the corn acreage reserve (about one per cent of acreage harvested last year) come out of an allotment of 10,493 acres. The average allotment on these farms is 17.5 acres. The average participator to the above date has 11.9 acres of his corn allotment in the Soil Bank. Many small producers must be signing agreements.

—:—

Burley tobacco sign up as of Friday, Feb. 15, from 11 of the 35 counties growing burley tobacco shows 199 agreements with 116 acres placed in the acreage reserve.

—:—

Livestock production rates continued upward in 1956. Record highs were attained for number of pigs saved per litter, milk production per cow, and eggs per layer. The calving rate, lambing rate, and average weight per fleece of sheep shorn were equal or nearly equal to previous highs established in 1955.

—:—

Milk production per cow Feb. 1 was four per cent above previous high and 23 per cent above Feb. 1 average. About 71 per cent of all milk cows on farms were being milked compared to about 70 per cent last year and 66 per cent as long-time average. Generally favorable milk-feed price ratio encouraged liberal feeding of grain and concentrate.

—:—

Fluid milk prices paid by dealers in early February averaged $5.52 per hundredweight for Class I milk. This was five cents lower than in January—about the average seasonal decline, but about 23 cents per hundredweight higher than in February, 1956.

—:—

Calf crop in 1956 totaled 42.3 million, down less than one per cent from the 42.5 million head born in 1955, although 16 per cent above average. Ohio crop was about the same as in 1955, 1,023,000 calves. Calves born in U.S. during 1956 expressed as a percentage of cows and heifers two years old or over was 87 per cent in both 1956 and 1955.

—:—

Pullet numbers on farms Jan. 1 were up five per cent from a year earlier while hen numbers were down two per cent. Will pay to watch closely spring replacements for laying flocks. Intentions to purchase baby chicks for flock replacement indicate farmers plan to purchase nine per cent fewer chicks than last year. If this occurs fall egg prices would likely be considerably improved. Actual purchases may vary depending upon egg and feed price relationships or other developments in next few months.

—:—

Egg purchases resumed Feb. 7. Purchase program of shell eggs discontinued last Dec. 6. In two weeks ended Feb. 21 purchases amounted to 112,470 cases. Midwest price range 34.35 cents to 34.8 cents per dozen.

—:—

Honey price to beekeepers in 1956 averaged 19 cents per pound for all honey (includes wholesale and retail sales of extracted, chunk, and comb). This was about 1 2 cents higher than 1955 and highest since 1947. The average wholesale and retail prices respectively for extracted were 15.2 cents and 24.8 cents; chunk, 27 and 33 4 cents; and comb, 31.8 and 36.4 cents.

Crop Loans To Mature

March 31 is the date when crop loans on wheat, oats, rye and barley mature, the Marion County ASC office reports. Farmers are urged to check their grain to make certain it is in good condition and will stand up under the rigid regulations of pure food and drug laws. Support price agreements on corn will be available on corn until the March 31 date.

USDA Predicts Crop Acreage Drop for 1957

The year 1957 may, in future times, be remembered as the year when crop acreage was the smallest since World War I. It may, that is, if predictions presently being made by the USDA prove to be true.

According to the department's report for March, planting intentions by the nation's farmers for the 59 major crops maay be in the neighborhood of 12 million acres less than in 1956. It is estimated that farmers will plant about 334 million acres, a 3.5 per cent decrease over a year ago.

The following is a summary of what the planting picture looks like to these agricultural experts for the most popular crops:

Corn—74.4 million acres this year, five per cent less than in 1956 and the smallest total acreage in 70 years.

Spring wheat—12.8 million acres. This would not only be 21 per cent less than a year ago but it would be the least acreage for this crop on record.

Oats—43 5 milion acres, about three per cent less than that needed in 1956.

Soybeans—22.7 million acres. This acreage would represent an increase over the total plantings in 1956, as the demand increases for soybean oil both for domestic use and shipment overseas. The 22.7 million acres would be an increase of 3.5 per cent over last year and establish a new record for acres planted.

Barley—16 million acres may be planted to this grain, also representing a gain of approximately nine per cent over 1956.

Potatoes—1.4 million acres will be planted this year, an increase over last, but less than one per cent.

Tobacco and rice will also be planted to fewer acres this year, the USDA guesses, with tobacco acreage decreasing a whopping 17 per cent, and rice 10 per cent.

The department notes, however, that weather conditions could affect these estimates considerably, with farmers changing their own planting schedules to suit environmental conditions. Efforts will be made by most operators to recoup losses on one crop by a heavier planting of another.

Federal Land Bank Is Feted on 40th Birthday

H. L. Wenner of Marion and Burton Honsberger of Sycamore have returned from Louisville, Ky., where they attended the 40th anniversary of the founding of the Federal Land Bank. Mr. Wenner is secretary - treasurer of the Marion National Farm Loan Association, which has 295 members in the county.

Some 35 persons attended the meeting, representing farm loan associations from Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee. There are 101 national farm loan agencies in the four-state area and over 1,000 associations across the nation.

Thomas A. Maxwell, director of the land bank service for the Farm Credit Administration in Washington, D. C., was guest speaker.

SELLS GUERNSEY SIRE

D. G. Arnold, Bucyrus dairyman, has sold the registered Guernsey bull, Hideaway D. Indian, to a Tiro, O., farmer, according to the American Guernsey Cattle Club. Hideaway is out of Lone Pine A Ho, who has an official production record of 11,349 pounds of milk, 451 pounds of butterfat, made over a 365 - day period.

The maximum known depth of the Pacific Ocean is 35,410 feet near the Philippines.

Increase in Marion Milk Prices Noted Last Year

Over-All Receipts Were Relatively High, but Costs Also Rose

One of the most stable of all farming enterprises, over both lean and fat years, has been dairying. The steady income from milking cows has been the only difference between success and failure for the nation's farmers in many an area.

Dairying has had its difficult times, of course, but agriculture experts, have always looked at this phase of farming as one of the most potentially profitable segments of an increasingly complex overall farm picture.

This year is no exception and agriculture economists have predicted a better year for cow milkers, a note of encouragement for dairymen.

All considered, dairy farmers have enjoyed relatively good prices in the last five years, although operating costs have made dairying an increasingly hazardous proposition for the so-called "little" man.

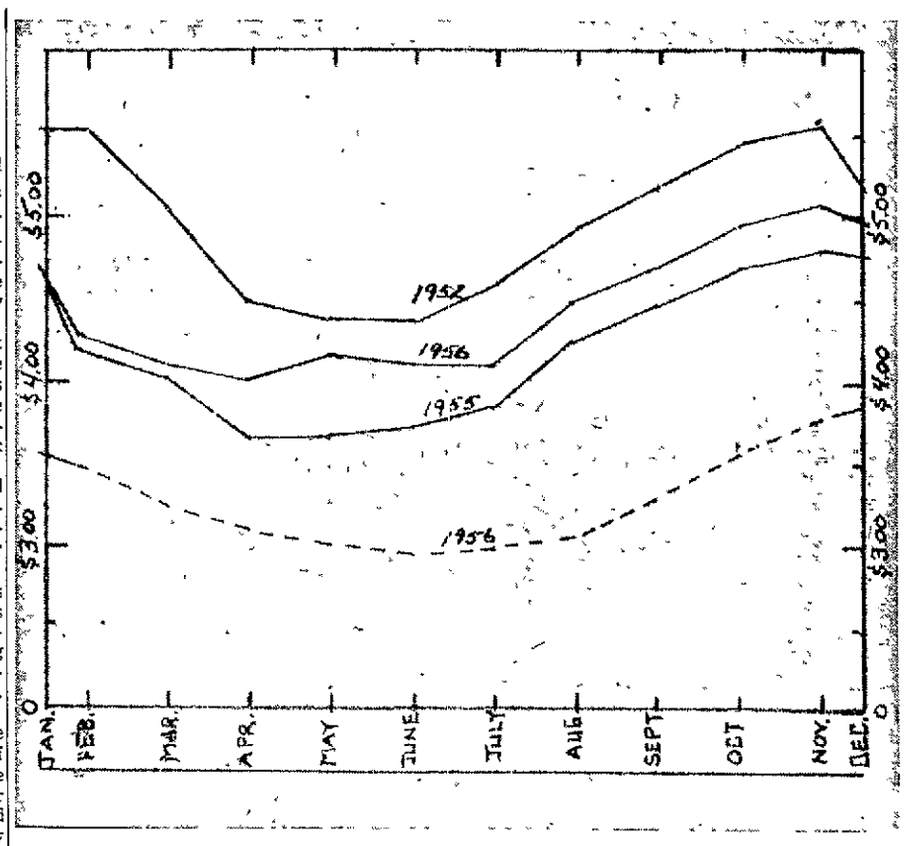
STATISTICS released by the Agricultural Marketing Service of the USDA shows that 1952 was the most recent high-water mark for prices received for milk for fluid use (Grade A milk). In January of that year, dairymen received approximately $5.50 per hundredweight for their milk. The price rose to about $5.60 before starting its annual seasonal drop, reaching a low of $4 50 during the months of April and May. Thereafter the price rose steadily through the summer months, as cows grazed over green pastures, until mid-November, when the price hit about $5 30 per hundred pounds.

This month-to-month trend is followed each year, as cows come out of barn lots onto pastures and thence back to loafing sheds for the ensuing winter. As production increases, prices fall. For the last five year period, 1954 saw bulk milk for fluid use hit the low, being worth only slightly more than $3.20 per hundredweight in April and May of that year. A lower mark than that was recorded in 1956, when the price was a shade less than $3, but that was for Grade B milk or milk for manufacture, a product that diarymen are fast learning costs more than it's worth to produce.



A HEARTENING TREND. Dairy prices were up in 1956, compared to 1955, according to a report by the USDA. The graph above indicates just how much the increase was. The price for fluid milk for consumption (Grade A) started at about $4 50 per hundredweight, dropped seasonably in February and March then began a rather unexpected climb in April, leveling off in May before beginning the annual climb in early fall. The price at year's end was approximately $5 per hundred It will take an exceptionally good year, however, to equal or surpass milk income received by dairymen in 1952, when prices were never much lower than $4 50 The dotted line shows the 1956 price received for Grade B milk for manufacture, showing how uneconomical it is to produce this grade of product.

MILK PRICES IN 1956 were relatively good. At year's beginning, farmers were receiving approximately $4 60 a hundredweight for Grade A milk. The price dropped to $4.10 in April but then began a rather unseasonable climb during that month to about $4 40 by May 1, where it remained through June and July. The seasonal climb in August reached a peak of $5 20 before it leveled off in mid-November.

In short, 1956 was a better year than 1955 for the dairyman price-wise, and the experts predict even better incomes for 1957. It is all apparent, however, that these prices may well benefit only those farmers who are in the business of producing Grade A milk. For example: while prices for fluid milk for human consumption dropped to only the aforementioned $4 10 in April before starting to climb back, the price for the Grade B product slid to about $3.60 before leveling off. In the meantime, costs of producing the milk were almost as high as for the farmer who was getting the premium price.

In a time when farmers are casting about for a specialized farm program in which to incorporate all or most of their resources and labors, the dairyman, it appears, is as well suited as anyone to make money. He must, however, keep pace with a demand for Grade A milk, and though the initial costs of conversion may be considered great, statistics indicate that in this way, and in this way only, can the farmer whose business is cows take advantage of what the experts are terming "a good year for dairymen."

Potato Chips Help Maintain Value of 'Spud'

In case anyone wondered, Idaho is not the only place where potatoes grow. Neither, for that matter, is Ireland. In fact, a recent report from Ohio State University's agriculture extension service, notes that there were approximately four and one-half million bushels of spuds raised in the Buckeye state in 1954.

There are, it seems, some 400 growers in Ohio who annually raise in excess of 10 acres of potatoes. These raisers produce about 85 per cent of the state's crop.

During the 10-year period from 1944 to 1954, the average yield of potatoes in Ohio increased from about 100 bushels an acre to more than 250 bushels. Moreover, the 4¼ million bushels of potatoes raised in 1954 by 400 growers were one million more than 700 raisers could produce 10 years earlier, the extension service indicates.

But there's more to this story. What becomes of all these sprouting wonders? Statistics show that the per capita consumption is less by 25 pounds now than it was 20 years ago. The answer is simple. The nation has turned into a crowd of potato chip eaters. Notes the extension service: about 10 per cent of the potatoes raised in the country now are being processed into chips, compared with one per cent 20 years ago.

In short, potatoes, whether they be consumed as they are or in the form of chips, will probably continue to be a big business in Ohio. And, the danger of Buckeye spud farmers crowding out those in Idaho and Ireland seems a bit remote.

Repayment Ordered

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A federal judge has told Barbara Town, 24, she can stay out of prison if she pays back $2,000 in forged checks. The FBI arrested her here Feb. 8 on a Dayton, Ohio, charge of forging checks to finance trips around the country. She pleaded guilty before Federal Judge Louis E. Goodman.

Judge Goodman placed her on three years' probation and told her to remain in his court district until a Washington, D. C, grand jury acts on charges growing out of the same series of checks.

Senate Bill Aims at Clarifying Disputes Over Filing Petitions

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An echo of the 1956 congressional election will be heard in the Ohio Senate today.

The Senate is going to try to nail down—once and for all—the question of how to determine the most populous county in an Ohio congressional district.

There was a fat hassle in the 11th District—made up of the counties in the northeastern corner of Ohio—last year over whether Trumbull or Ashtabula was the county with the largest population.

Several congressional candidates filed their nominating petitions in Ashtabula County on grounds it was the most populous "whole county."

The law requires that nomination petitions must be filed in the most populous county.

But a part of Trumbull County is in the 11th District. Even that part of Trumbull County in the district has more population than any whole county in the district.

Ten other candidates filed at Warren, county seat of Trumbull County. Their petitions were accepted. The petitions of those who filed in Ashtabula County were thrown out. A lawsuit resulted, but the Ohio Supreme Court held those who filed in Trumbull County were correct.

Today's bill, sponsored by freshman Sen. C. Lee Mantle (R-Lake), seeks to write into the law exactly what the high court ruled—that congressional petitions must be filed in the most populous county in the district, whether it's a whole or part of a county.

Earlier Action To Aid Alcoholics Is Proposed

CHICAGO (AP)—A welfare official proposed today that a system be worked out for finding and treating budding alcoholics before they lose their jobs and break up their homes.

Henry L. McCarthy, New York City's commissioner of welfare, said there is a "whole unexplored area of possible service and treatment for the alcoholic who is headed for but hasn't yet reached bottom".

McCarthy suggested that one method of automatic case-finding would be to create organized facilities to which the alcoholic's friends, relatives, physician or clergy could refer him if their efforts failed.

CONSTIPATED?

new laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks

without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon. A "thrifty" colon is one that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

TO REGAIN NORMAL REGULARITY two things are necessary. First, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it and so, excite its muscles to action; to a normal urge to purge.

AND, OF ALL LAXATIVES, only COLONAID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONAID'S great moisturizing capacity plus COLONAID'S stretch-stimulating bulk that activates normal colonic reflexes. So effective that it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONAID is yet so smooth, so gentle it has been proved safe even for women in the most critical stages of pregnancy.

SUPERIOR TO OLD STYLE bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; does not interfere with your absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; and in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other side reactions.

IT'S A PHYSIOLOGICAL FACT: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Whether occasional, frequent or chronic, whatever your degree of constipation, get COLONAID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! The price, only 98c for the economical 60 tablet package, brings you positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

New Zealander Submits Description of 'Bossy'

A New Zealand agricultural attache has come up with his own definition of a cow. Says he: "The cow is a mobile, animated machine, housed in unprocessed leather. One end is equipped with a mower, grinder and other standard equipment, including headlights and a foghorn.

"Centrally located is a conversion plant consisting of a combination storage and fermentation vat, three converters in series, and an intricate arrangement of conveyor tubes.

"This machine has its own central heating plant, a pumping system, and air conditioning. It is, however, unpatented, and comes in several sizes and colors. Its potential output ranges from one to 20 tons of milk a year."

The humor of the description is apparent but the fact remains that the cow is one thing men will never be wise enough to duplicate with machinery.

Order Field Tile Early

Marion County farmers who are contemplating doing any tiling are urged to get their orders in about six weeks before they will need it. Ellwood Parrott, Marion County extension director, says most tile manufacturing firms in the area are behind approximately six weeks in orders for all sizes, due primarily, to an unusually heavy demand for tile this spring.

Identification Cards Proposed For Ohioans Who Buy Liquor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Sen. Ross Pepple, Lima Republican, wants Ohioans who buy liquor to carry identification cards. He told a Senate committee Tuesday he is "after the man who abuses the right to drink."

Pepple was supported in his stand before the Senate Liquor Committee Tuesday by the Rev. Lewis Berger, superintendent of the Temperance League of Ohio, who argued such a law would "help to solve the problem of drunk driving as well as drunkenness."

"This bill," Pepple said, "is an effort to make a man appreciate the right to drink is not an inherent right but a licensed right The state licenses the liquor business in Ohio."

The bill would require the holder's picture on the ID card. Liquor could not be purchased without it. The card could be revoked upon the holder's conviction for drunk driving, intoxication twice in a year or five times in five years or if the holder is considered an habitual drunkard.

"Certainly the man who abuses the privilege of drinking ought to lose this right," Pepple said. "The only thing that scares an auto driver who drinks too much is the threat of losing his driver's license. This bill would act in a similar manner for those who abuse the privilege of drinking liquor."

Pepple told the committee the bill should not be approved "in a hurry," that perhaps there should be some amendments, including one to provide for tempotary cards for out-of-state visitors.

Berger also believed some changes in language of the bill might be necessary, including a provision requiring an individual to show his ID card when buying a drink.

He said the League supported the principles behind the bill.

Uniform Traffic Laws Asked by Safety Expert

WASHINGTON (AP)—A highway safety spokesman today urged federal legislation to require uniform traffic laws in every state.

Irvin S. Markel of Richmond, Va., said in a statement prepared for the Special House Subcommittee on traffic safety:

"I recommend. . .legislation giving the federal government power to withhold funds under the new highway construction program from any state which fails to adhere quickly to uniform laws set up by the proper executive body."

"A sound, uniform program of legislation, rigidly enforced," Markel added, "will positively cause a tremendous cut in our accident rate."

2 Rate Hearings On

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Utilities Commission now has two hearings under way involving proposed increases in gas rates in two Ohio cities.

Monday, hearings opened in a rate dispute between Findlay and the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. Tuesday, separate hearings got under way in a similar battle between Dayton and the Dayton Power and Light Co.

Personalities Seen Big Influence With Voters

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The former chairman of the Republican Party in Michigan says he believes political parties have hit a low ebb in influence over the voter.

John Feikens, who retired last month as state GOP leader, said Tuesday night that personalities now dominate politics.

He was speaking before the University of Michigan chapter of the American Society for Public Administration.

"Political parties, by their trend to partisanship, are losing out," Feikens said. "The big city organizations took a clobbering in the last election and are on the way out."

Delinquency Rise Seen

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Prof. Walter C. Reckless of Ohio State University, says he thinks juvenile delinquency "is going to increase a great deal more."

The OSU sociologist told a parent-teacher group Tuesday night that youths with a good insulation to delinquency are those who believe they have good homes and families, and are sure they will not enter a life of crime.

Resident of Waldo Learns New Music Skill at Age of 70

Learning to play an electric organ after you are 70 is quite an accomplishment, and it is highly rewarding, too, Mrs. Fae Baker of Waldo will tell you. But then, the energetic widow of 71 enjoys life generally.

Her love of music was developed early in life. She has played the piano almost 60 years. Having attended Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware two years, she taught for a time before her marriage to Irwin Baker, a railroad man and she has kept up her interest in music over many busy years. She is the mother of six children.

Television is interesting, and she has a record player and a violin at home, but the new organ which she bought in December is the most important thing in her life right now. She plays for frineds, for meetings of Eastern Star and Pythian Sister Lodges, American Legion Auxiliary, her Sunday School class at the Methodist Church and elsewhere and of course for her children and grandchildren.

It was at the home of her son, Edson Baker who is manager of a funeral parlor in Tacoma, Wash., that she learned to operate the organ on a visit to the West coast in October.

There are three other sons and a daughter. Bruce and Allen Baker, both of Waldo, Robert Baker of Rochester, N. Y., and Mrs. R. B. Follet of New York City. Another child died a number of years ago.

Logical Assumption

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—The State Senate Finance Committee ended a long discussion on a bill by voting a favorable report.

"Well," said State Sen. Frederick C. Malkus Jr., "we'll bring her out on the floor this afternoon."

"How do you know that bill is a 'her' and not a 'him,' Fred," asked another state senator.

"That's easy," said a third. "If it's controversial, it's feminine."

Cites Spread of Fast Time

Erie Will Go on Saving Time, Seeks Uniformity

CLEVELAND — Erie Railroad will adopt Daylight Saving Time for its systemwide passenger train timetables April 28, when most communities in its operating area between New York and Chicago change their clocks, A. G. Oldenquist, passenger traffic manager, announced today. The new time is expected to remain in effect until Oct. 27.

In previous years, Mr. Oldenquist said, the Erie printed its main line timetable according to standard time but issued local schedules for the eastern commuter territory in daylight time.

"SINCE THE END of World War II, more and more communities have adopted Daylight Saving Time during the summer months," Mr. Oldenquist said. "This has caused considerable confusion among rail travelers who were forced to wrestle with the question of one hour sooner . . . or one hour later than the time shown on their watches."

"We feel that a systemwide trial should be given to the matter of printing the train schedules in daylight time," he added. "This will give us some idea as to whether a greater or lesser number of passengers are inconvenienced and what our policy should be in the future."

Mr. Oldenquist explained that in recent years, some communities have purposely remained on "train" or standard time while their neighbors adopted summer time and this action by the Erie may help them decide to become uniform.

HE ALSO POINTED out that some large cities observed daylight time for six months of the year which increased the confusion after other places had returned to standard time last fall.

The Erie official said a uniform time is important to the operation of railroads. Back in 1883, the railroads established four time zones which resulted in time uniformity and stability throughout the nation. "Railroad time" was adopted by the Federal government and all states and cities.

The period of stability ended in 1918 when "war time" was imposed by an Act of Congress. When "war time" was repealed, a few cities established the practice of setting clocks an hour ahead during the summer months. The usage of daylight time fluctuated until 1942 when "war time" was again imposed and remained in effect until 1945. The seasonal use of daylight time has spread throughout the Erie area including six states and it was decided the railroad could best serve its patrons by printing its public folders for the entire system in daylight time which becomes effective April 28.

Chief of Oregon's Teamsters Under Fourth Indictment

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Clyde C. Crosby, head of the Teamsters Union in Oregon, Tuesday was arrested on an indictment charging him with conspiracy to commit extortion.

It is the fourth indictment which has been served on Crosby, who recently testified before the Senate subcommittee investigating labor racketeering.

He is accused in Tuesday's indictment of conspiring with others to threaten damage to the property of taverns to prevent these establishments from owning their own pinball machines or from having any such devices other than those controlled by a firm favored by the Teamsters Union.

The earlier indictments accuse Crosby of accepting a bribe as a public official, of conspiring to accept a bribe, and of false swearing.

Aboard Stalled Train

CHICAGO (AP)—The Rock Island Railroad Tuesday listed five Ohioans who were passengers aboard the Golden Gate State Limited, stalled by snow near Meade, Kan. The five named were: Mr. and Mrs. C. Foss, Wooster; G. Ernst, Toledo; and Mr. and Mrs. F. Schoenbs, Cleveland.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market staged another short rally today, leaving prices ahead on average although there were numerous losers.

Many key stocks were up fractions to a point or more and some gains stretched to around two.

Steels and rails were the pacemakers. Nonferrous metals, manufacturers and selected issues made gains.

Indications of an easier tendency in interest rates and expressions of confidence at recent stockholders' meetings were positive factors but uncertainty still existed regarding the Middle East and immediate prospects for business.

Caterpillar held a gain of around two points but General Electric pared a similar gain by a fraction.

Lukens Steel and Youngstown Sheet were one-point gainers. U.S. Steel was up a fraction.

Illinois Central and Baltimore & Ohio and Kennecott rose a point or better.

U. S. government bonds advanced by narrow margins.

Warden Frank C. Johnston said increased use of machinery did not justify the expense of keeping the horses. The prison at one time had 68 big draft horses; 24 were left at the final sale.

THE HEART OF JULIET JONES By Stan Drake

WELL, JUST DON'T VEGETATE THERE—WHAT CAN WE DO TO HELP MAGGI MELLET?
THE IMPOSSIBLE, TO COIN A PHRASE, TAKES AT LEAST FIVE MINUTES. WAIT!
DO YOU ACTUALLY THINK HE CAN DO ANYTHING?
HE'S A LITTLE "MAD"—BUT MAYBE THAT'S WHAT THIS SITUATION CALLS FOR!

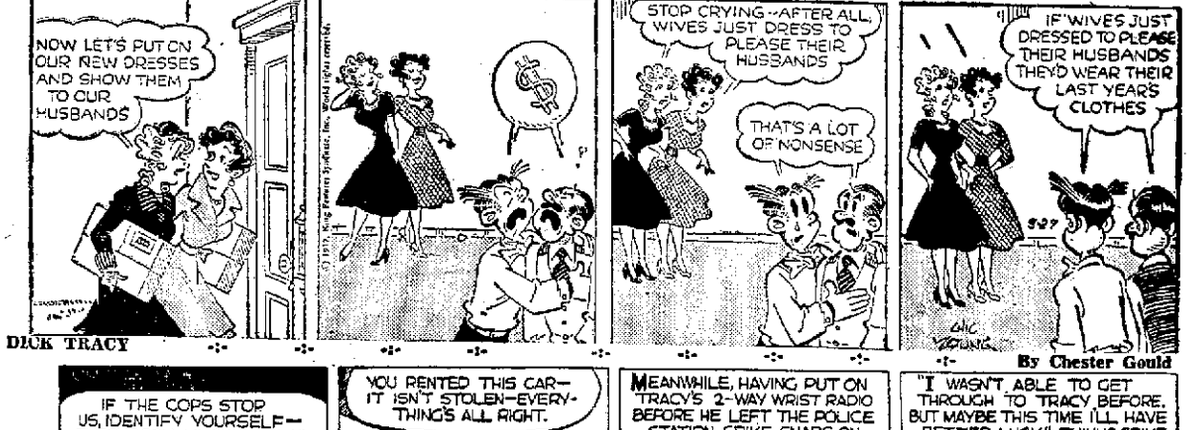
BLONDIE By Chic Young



NOW LET'S PUT ON OUR NEW DRESSES AND SHOW THEM TO OUR HUSBANDS
STOP CRYING—AFTER ALL, WIVES JUST DRESS TO PLEASE THEIR HUSBANDS
THAT'S A LOT OF NONSENSE
IF WIVES JUST DRESSED TO PLEASE THEIR HUSBANDS THEY'D WEAR THEIR LAST YEAR'S CLOTHES

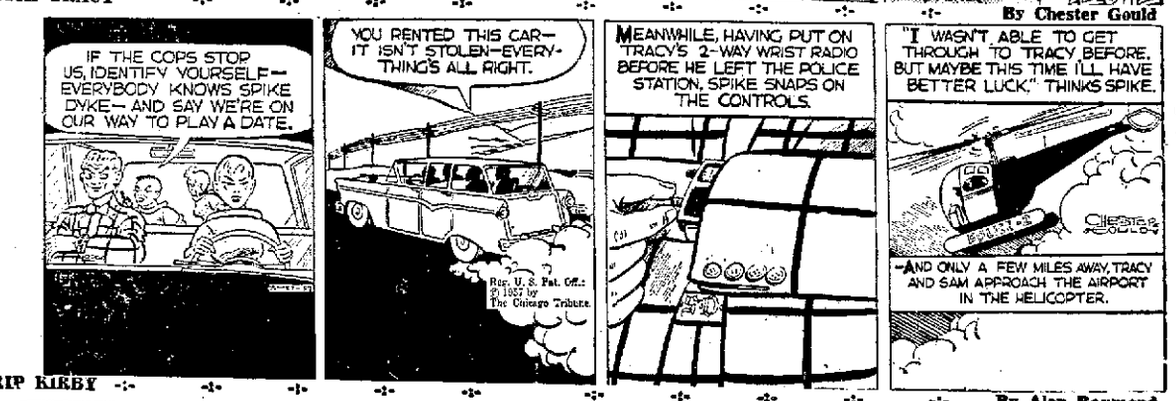
DICK TRACY By Chester Gould



IF THE COPS STOP US, IDENTIFY YOURSELF—EVERYBODY KNOWS SPIKE DYKE—AND SAY WE'RE ON OUR WAY TO PLAY A DATE.
YOU RENTED THIS CAR—IT ISN'T STOLEN—EVERYTHING'S ALL RIGHT.
MEANWHILE, HAVING PUT ON TRACY'S 2-WAY WRIST RADIO BEFORE HE LEFT THE POLICE STATION, SPIKE SNAPS ON THE CONTROLS.
"I WASN'T ABLE TO GET THROUGH TO TRACY BEFORE, BUT MAYBE THIS TIME I'LL HAVE BETTER LUCK," THINKS SPIKE.
—AND ONLY A FEW MILES AWAY, TRACY AND SAM APPROACH THE AIRPORT IN THE HELICOPTER.

RIP KIRBY By Alex Raymond

THE ENVELOPE IS ALREADY OPEN, SIR. WHY ARE YOU STEAMING OFF THE FLAP?
I THOUGHT SO! MOST WOMEN CAN'T SEAL AN ENVELOPE WITHOUT GETTING LIPSTICK ON THE UNDERSIDE OF THE FLAP...
NOW ALL YOU HAVE TO DO IS FIND A RICH MANICURIST WHO USES THAT SHADE!
I...AH...ALREADY HAVE ACQUIRED A MATCHING SAMPLE—FROM THE LIPS OF MISS CONSTANCE ROYCE...
GREAT CAESAR'S GHOST!

ARCHIE By Montana

MR. SWEEPER! WHY DID I HAVE THIS FENCE ERECTED?
IT BANE SEPARATE DER HIGH SKIRL FROM DER LIRTLE ONES' PLAYING YARD!
EXACTLY! NOW NAIL UP THAT LOOSE BOARD!
I DON'T WANT ANY OF THE OLDER CHILDREN SNEAKING THROUGH THERE TO PLAY WITH THE GRADE PUPILS!

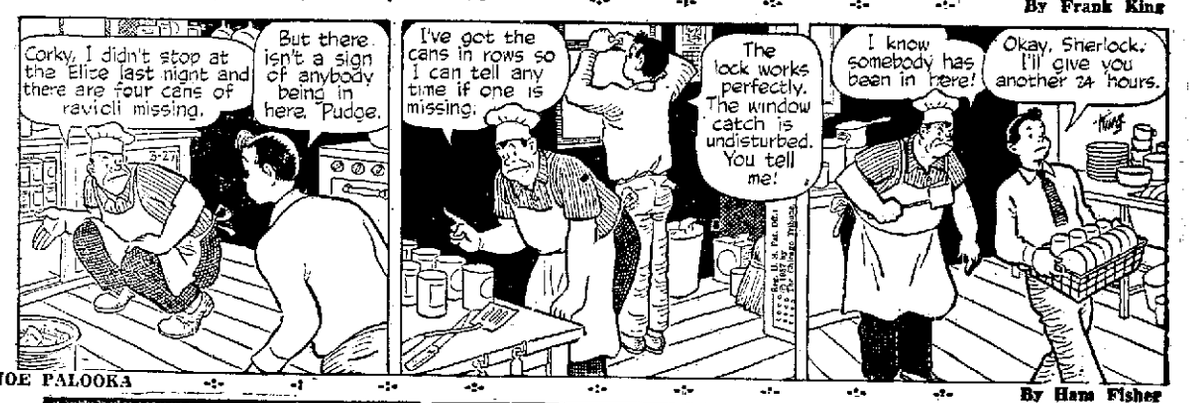
GASOLINE ALLEY By Frank King



Corky, I didn't stop at the Elite last night and there are four cans of ravioli missing.
But there isn't a sign of anybody being in here, Pudge.
I've got the cans in rows so I can tell any time if one is missing.
The lock works perfectly. The window catch is undisturbed. You tell me!
I know somebody has been in here!
Okay, Sherlock. I'll give you another 24 hours.

JOE PALOOKA By Ham Fisher

MR. WALSH IS TOO CHOKED UP TO TALK, FOLKS...HERE'S THE SPECTACULAR CHAMP, STEVE PALOOKA!
I OWE IT ALL TO MY GREAT MANAGER, KNOBBY WALSH...WITHOUT HIS GUIDANCE I WOULD HAVE LOST TONIGHT.
HM...THIS COMPLICATES MY JOB.
HMPH...I'M WASTIN' MY TIME TRYIN' T'GET STEVE'S CONTRACT FOR TH' SYNDICATE. THEY'RE INSEPARABLE.
THE REPORTERS ARE ALL WAITING OUTSIDE, KNOBBY—MAYBE YOU OUGHT TO TALK TO THEM WHILE STEVE IS SHOWERING!!
YEAH, BUT—I MUST TALK T'YOU B'FORE I SEE 'EM...WE GOT A REAL PROBLEM!

TERRY AND THE PIRATES By George Wunder

IT IS THE MERCHANT, CHIN, HIMSELF!
BE AT EASE, OLD ONE! WITH US, YOUR DAUGHTER IS SAFE FROM THE YANKS.
ENOUGH, MY FRIENDS! ALREADY WE HAVE LOST FACE BEFORE THE STRANGERS BY LACKING THE VIRTUES OF JUSTICE AND HOSPITALITY.
NOW, IT IS MERELY RIDICULOUS TO HUDDLE LIKE BARNYARD FOWL, BRAVELY SHIELDING THE TIGRESS FROM THE HUNTERS!

ANNIE ROONEY By Darrell McClure

RAIN, RAIN, RAIN, AND NO CUSTOMERS OF COURSE!
I'M SO DISCOURAGED! PERHAPS I SHOULD ACCEPT MR. SKWEEZE'S OFFER TO BUY BACK THE RESTAURANT.
WHAT?!
TAKE HIS MEASLY OFFER OF FIVE OR SIX THOUSAND BUCKS?? YOU GOT FIFTEEN OF YOUR OWN DOUGH IN IT!!!
DON'T FORGET THE TWENTY-FIVE-THOUSAND-DOLLAR MORTGAGE HANGING OVER MY HEAD! MAYBE MR. SKWEEZE IS DOING ME A FAVOR!
IF I KNOW ORVIL SKWEEZE—AN' I DO!—HE AIN'T DOIN' YOU NO FAVOR! HE NEVER DONE A FAVOR IN HIS LIFE UNLESS THERE WAS A PROFIT IN IT FOR ORVIL SKWEEZE! I AIN'T RIGHT 'BOUT A LOT O' THINGS, BUT I AIN'T WRONG 'BOUT THIS!
